Lawmakers' Finally Adjourn, Funds Feature Grueling Day

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The 1966 Legislature adjourned the longest session in a half century early today after a grueling, 16-hour session in which the lawmakers voted themselves pay and expense-allowance increases totaling $7,000.

Adjournment came officially in the Assembly at 3:06 a.m. The final gavel fell in the Senate at 3:16 a.m.

Rocky Breaks Tradition

The weary legislators, obviously tired of it all, filed quietly from the legislative chambers, displaying none of the zest of previous adjournments.

Marking a rare break in tradition, Gov. Rockefeller appeared outside the Assembly chamber just before closing time, and Democratic Speaker Anthony J. Travia invited him to the rostrum to say a few words.

The members hailed themselves to their feet and applauded when the Republican governor took the speaker's chair.

"During this session," he told them, "we have reached new heights of legislation for the people of our state."

Less than an hour earlier, the Assembly had cleared the last major hurdle to adjournment by passing the annual supplemental budget bill, a $280-million-plus spending plan drafted by Rockefeller and the legislative leaders.

The Senate followed suit quickly, amid protests from a veteran Democrat that the measure was drawn up in secrecy and that the lawmakers were not given ample time to study it.

Senate Parties Divided

But it was approved easily, 117-24 in the Assembly and 46-15 in the Senate. Upstate Republicans cast the negative votes in the Assembly. Opposition was divided among both parties in the Senate.

The money bill boosted state spending for the current fiscal year beyond $4 billion for the first time in history—a distinction Rockefeller earlier had sought to avoid in this election year.

Uppermost in the minds of many lawmakers, however, was the bill's provision increasing their annual "lulus" for the current session from $1,000 to $3,000.

"Lulu" is Capitol Hill jargon for the lump-sum payment they receive "in lieu of" an itemized accounting of expenditures.

Legislative leaders had let it be known in advance they planned such an increase, in consideration of the abnormal length of this year's session.

But, when the budget bill was unveiled late Tuesday, it developed also that the leaders had included additional increases of (Continued on Page 33, Col. 6)

Raise Effective Jan. 1

Legislators Will Get $7,000 Pay Hike, Lulus

By GERRY McLAUGHLIN

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Members of the Legislature left town today, $7,000 richer in expense money and counting on a $5,000 pay increase that will take effect next Jan. 1.

In the closing hours of the 1966 session, the Democratic-controlled Assembly adopted the salary-increase measure, 90-41, and the Republican-run Senate later concurred, 51-10.

Was Swiftly Signed

Gov. Rockefeller swiftly signed it into law, without comment.

The annual salary now is $10,000.

At the same time, the Legislature voted to raise the lieutenant governor's salary from $20,000 to $30,000 a year effective next Jan. 1.

The $2,000 expense allowance for each member was sandwiched into the supplemental budget of more than $280 million — which Rockefeller and legislative leaders had cloaked in secrecy for several weeks until Tuesday night.

Lulus Found

When the wraps finally were removed from the spending bill, it was also found to contain thumping increases in expense allowances for legislative leaders of both parties.

Rockefeller also signed this measure promptly.

Beyond the $5,000 pay raise and $2,000 increase for rank-and-file members, the long-awaited bill included boosts of $4,500 each in expense funds for Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges and Assembly Speaker Anthony J. Travia.

The increases lifted their leadership "lulus"—Capitol Hill jargon meaning expense funds—to $21,000, in addition to the $10,000 annual salary and the $3,000 expense allowance they draw along with other members.

Everyone Gets

Special lulus increases also were voted for minority leaders, chairmen of key committees and ranking minority members of those committees.

The pay increase was the first voted since 1962 when the Legislature decided to boost salaries from $7,500 to $10,000.

Brydges and Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretzki took the Senate floor to defend the Legislature's move to give itself a salary raise.

Wilson Votes No On Legislature Pay Raise Bill

Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Woodstock was one of 28 Republican and 13 Democratic assemblymen who voted against the $7,000 pay raise for New York State legislators passed by both houses in the waning hours of the session.

State Sen. Lloyd A. Newcombe (R-Catskill) with most other State Senators voted for the pay raise. Only 10 Republican senators voted against the measure. Gov. Rockefeller is expected to sign the measure.

This is how the Associated Press recorded the vote:

Nation's Tax Map Growing and Growing, Only Eight States Without Sales Levy

CHICAGO (AP) — Motorists who take long vacation trips will get away from home, office and dull daily routine — but not from taxes.

Commerce Clearing House studied the nation's tax map and reported today:

Forty-two states and the District of Columbia levy general sales taxes.

Every state except North Carolina taxes cigarettes.

And all have state taxes on gasoline.

Commerce Clearing House, a private organization which does research on tax and business law for its clients, said sales tax rates range from 2 per cent in Indiana, Iowa, Louisiana, Nevada, New York, Oklahoma, Texas, as and Virginia to 5 per cent in Pennsylvania.

Virginia recently adopted a 2 per cent sales tax, but it won't go into effect until Sept. 1.

That will leave only Alaska, Delaware, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Oregon and Vermont without a general sales tax.

This tax on sales and services is popular with the collectors. It brings in about 26 per cent of the total state revenues.

Commerce Clearing House says state gasoline taxes range from 5 cents a gallon in Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, Texas and Wyoming to a combined Hawaii-Hawaii County tax of 11 cents a gallon.

New Jersey boosted its cigarette tax rate this year from 8 cents to 11 cents, joining Texas and Washington as the states with the highest rates on cigarettes.

"In the case of cigarette and gasoline taxes," Commerce Clearing House said, "the state rates are in addition to an 8-cent-a-pack federal cigarette tax and a 4-cent-a-gallon federal gasoline tax, as well as similar levies made by hundreds of cities and towns."

"For example, cigarette buyers in New York City pay 22 cents a pack in taxes consisting of 4 cents city tax, 10 cents state tax and 8 cents federal tax. And motorists to the caverns of Carlsbad, N.M., will pay a gasoline tax of 11 cents comprised of 4 cents federal 6 cents state and 1 cent city."

As parting advice, the tax research organization said travelers may find local sales taxes in many communities.

LAPSES INTO COMMA —

Former Sen. Harry F. Byrd is suffering from a malignant brain tumor and has lapsed into a coma, a family member said today. A son, Richard E. Byrd, said his father is not expected to come out of the coma. Ex-Sen. Byrd, former longtime head of Virginia's conservative Democratic party organization, retired from the Senate last November after serving for 32 years. Another son, Harry F. Byrd Jr., was appointed to succeed him.

City Still Plagued By Blazes Incendiary Figure Approaching 1965

Local firemen, as they were for the first half of this year and all of last year continue this month being besieged with fires of apparent incendiary origin.

Completely Involved

A vacant house in a wooded area off Lindenman Avenue near Hillcrest was reported completely involved in flames when firemen arrived early Tuesday afternoon. The call at 12:28 p. m. was followed by an alarm from Box 4241, Hillsworth Avenue and Becket Street.

A pump stream was used and firemen were at the scene until 1:15 p. m. Ownership of the house has not been determined.

Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations, the Wicks and Wiltwyck volunteers responded with Deputy Chief Julius E. Buchholtz and Capt. Harry L. Sills in charge.

Firemen were called on June 28 to check a fire in another vacant house on Glen Street and were summoned there again July 1. It was also said to be incendiary as was one earlier which damaged Burgevin Inc., greenhouse off Pearl Street.

Most of the reported incendiary fires this year, however, were in downtown areas, particularly within bounds of the urban renewal site.

Chief James M. Britt reported some 35 fires of suspected incendiary origin in 1965. No official count has been made to date, this year of fires believed to be deliberately set, but firemen believe the total, approaches that of 1965.

One of 12 Chapters

The regional Heart president also announced that the new Mid-Hudson Association will be one of about 12 regional chapters throughout the state. The change in the numerical strength of state chapters was advocated after lengthy studies made by the American Heart Association.

Through these mergers, Dr. Vosburgh stresses, there will be a reduction in administrative costs which in turn will be given to additional program activities, including research.

Miss Katherine A. Bower, executive director of the new organization, reports that although some programs will be combined each of the three counties will

All Carry Portrait

"I carry that with me wherever I go," Hatfield said. "Every man in the office does."

The portrait was that of Denise Sue Clinton, 9 years old and on summer vacation when she was kidnapped July 8 a year ago by a robber who apparently took her only as an afterthought.

There has been no trace of her — no torn or discarded clothing, no ransom demand, no indication whether she is dead or alive.

All that police and the FBI had to go on was a picture of a 33-year-old former mental patient that the girl's grandparents said resembled the robber.

The man, identified as Robert Lee Hays, was arrested Monday night — four days short of the anniversary of the kidnapping — in Oklahoma City on a warrant charging unlawful flight. He had been sought on robbery warrants issued in Topeka, Kan., in September 1963 and in Kansas City.

He was arraigned in Oklahoma City Tuesday before U.S. Commissioner Jim Gullett and held under $2,000 bond.

Denise Kidnap Role

Hays denied in Oklahoma City Tuesday night that he kidnapped Denise. He also denied robbing the Peacock laundry.

Denise's mother, Mrs. Russell Clinton, says: "I believe I'm the only one who believes she's still alive. Hundreds of people wish she were, of course, but I believe it."

"I try to keep a level head about it, I also try to remember to realize that it might not be true. But as long as nobody finds her—"

The question, "Is she alive, is she dead?" is debated agonizingly by Mrs. Clinton and her husband.

"There are times when my enthusiasm builds up," says Clinton, service manager for a new-car dealer. "There are times when it fades some. Until they prove to me with some evidence that she is not alive, I won't believe she is dead. But I don't understand how she could disappear from the face of the earth without some clue."

Denise had just returned from a vacation in California with her

Rockefeller Signs Bill To Speed Up Arterial Job

A bill permitting certain changes in the State Highway Law which will expedite the proposed arterial route through Kingston's Urban Renewal area was signed by Governor Nelson A. Rockefeller last week.

It was announced today by Assemblyman Kenneth L. Wilson of Ulster County that the signing into law of the legislation will have a great impact on the entire area in and around the City of Kingston.

The bill introduced in the Assembly this year by Wilson, passed both houses of the Legislature last month.

According to Assemblyman Wilson, the State Department of Public Works has assured him that now the measure is law, the department can proceed with the scheduling of public hearings on the entire question of the arterial route, Wilson pointed out that this new route will not only effect the City of Kingston in general, but it will also have a great bearing on the progress of the Downtown Urban Renewal Project, since the proposed highway will pass directly through the area. The Assemblyman also said that three other phases of the local arterial plan, the new route around Port Ewen, the arterial extension in the Town of Ulster, and the new bridge over the Rondout Creek between Kingston and Port Ewen, can now be pushed ahead by the Department of Public Works.

Assemblyman Wilson added that the ever-increasing traffic load in the Kingston area, particularly in the rapidly expanding

CONGRATULATIONS IN ORDER—Hamilton Fish Jr., victor in the June 28 Republican Primary election, receives congratulations and best wishes from House Minority Leader Gerald R. Ford. The photo was taken in Washington where the Republican candidate attended at photo-day seminar put on by the National Committee for Congressional Candidates. Returning to the District on Sunday, Fish has scheduled a series of meetings with his workers and political leaders to lay the groundwork for a November victory over the Democratic incumbent.

'Reds Know They Can't Win'

Johnson City, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, declaring the Communists know they cannot win a military victory in Viet Nam, has voiced optimism that "we are on the way" to solving the Vietnamese problem.

Johnson planned a series of Viet Nam conferences at his ranch home near here tonight, summoning Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, roving Ambassador W. Averell Harriman and other military and diplomatic advisers for an overnight business visit.

Told News Conference

The President expressed an optimistic view of the war during a news conference Tuesday on the front lawn of his ranch — a session preceded by a barbecue buffet lunch served by Mrs. Johnson and daughter Luci.

Taking the wraps off a top secret message from the Pentagon, Johnson cited estimates that stepped-up bombing raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area have wiped out 57 per cent of North Viet Nam's petroleum storage facilities. He said 87 per cent of all storage capacity has been hit during the raids that began last week.

Other conference highlights: —Discussing racial problems, Johnson indirectly chided militant Negro leaders by asserting: "We are not interested in black power and we are not interested in white power, but we are interested in American democratic power, with a small 'd.'"

Some militants have raised "black power" as a battle cry.

—Turning to politics, the President said "as time permits, I will be traveling throughout the country" in the four months between now and the November elections. He said that if he continues his recent

First degree manslaughter is punishable by a prison term not to exceed 20 years.

S. James Matthews, counsel for Frisbie, prior to offering the manslaughter plea on behalf of his client, noted that a Huntley hearing to test the voluntariness of a statement made by Frisbie on the day of the crime had been held and that the Court had ruled that Frisbie had been properly advised of his rights. B52s Hammer Two Targets

South Vietnamese air force pilots flew 252 sorties. U.S. B52 bombers hammered at two targets today: a Viet Cong base camp and training center near Cambodia 60 miles northwest of Saigon and a Viet Cong troop concentration 38 miles southwest of Tuy Hoa, on the central coast.

A U.S. spokesman announced the loss of three small two-seat observation planes in South Viet Nam today. One was shot down 25 miles southwest of Quang Ngai and another was shot down 20 miles southwest of Da Nang, but the cause was not known. The two planes in each of the three planes were rescued by helicopters.

On the political front, premier Nguyen Cao Ky set up a special disciplinary committee of 20 generals with court-martial powers to judge five other generals involved in the recent Buddhist-inspired revolt in the northern provinces.

The latter included Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh Thi, Ky's rival whose dismissal as commander of the army's northernmost 1st Corps area last March precipitated (Continued on Page 33, Col. 2)

Wreck 4 Sites in Heavy Raid

Warplanes Dodge 27 to 29 Missiles

SAIGON South Viet Nam (AP) — American warplanes dodged 27 to 29 Soviet-made missiles over North Viet Nam Tuesday during one of the heaviest raiding days of the war, a U.S. spokesman announced.

It was the largest number of surface-to-air missiles expended in one day by the Communists, but the American spokesman said none of the American raiders was hit by the SAMs.

Hit Two Fuel Depots

The missiles were fired from sites in the Red River Valley 30 to 115 miles north and northwest of Hanoi. U.S. Air Force pilots reported wrecking four of the sites and also hitting two fuel depots within 33 miles of the North Vietnamese capital.

One of the oil storage areas was 28 miles north of Hanoi, the other 33 miles northwest.

Air Force and carrier-based Navy jets flew a total of 106 multiple missions, a new high in the 16-month air war. But a spokesman said the missions did not involve a record number of planes.

A mission usually involves three or four planes which may make several sorties or single strikes against targets.

High Day for Sorties

"It was a high day for sorties, but not a record day," the spokesman said.

The raiding fighter-bombers also hammered at bridges, barracks, storage areas, anti-aircraft sites and other installations in the southern panhandle as well as the Red River Valley.

In the only major ground action reported, a government regiment of about 3,000 men clashed four times with Communist forces 62 miles southwest of Saigon Tuesday.

A spokesman said the Vietnamese troops killed 83 Viet Cong and captured a 57mm recoilless rifle, four machine guns and 27 other weapons. He said government casualties were light.

But American pilots flew the unusually high number of 443 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday, claiming damage or destruction of about 500 Viet Cong huts and fortifications and causing 55 secondary explosions. They also reported possibly killing 28 Viet Cong.

DO YOU REMEMBER

By SOPHIE MILLER

Two of my readers have sent me magazines covering the German Village project of Columbus, Ohio, done without bulldozing or federal aid. One magazine is dated June 1966, called Columbus, of the Knights of Columbus. The other is the Magazine of the National Trust for Historic Preservation on "Guarding America's Heritage." It seems former residents of the German section, who had moved away from the section where they had founded their German traditions, of their own language newspaper, German singing societies, and brewing industry decided to help restore it. Their first German immigration came there in the 1840's, and they had a warm spot for these little gardens and brick buildings.

The Ohio State University School of Architecture even worked out a manual guide for restoration, and even the city government was backing them up that each home would be in keeping with the original character of the area. There was such a dramatic change, that property values went up instead of down as they do in UR and condemned areas or near them. Many of the old residents wanted to move back to their original German section and did, "not by necessity but by choice." Local financial institutions also had faith in the overall program. Thus nearly 100 homes so far were restored or remodeled, not exactly to modern methods, but to colorful, cozy, real garden type homes as they were originally. They show some of the changes, how the shutters went back, and the old street signs, giving the old world flavor. "One is impressed by the abundance of red brick on all sides."

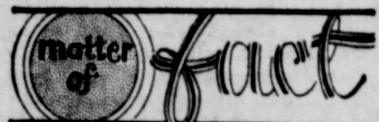

The brick industry will enjoy the following. Columbus, Ohio, German Village had the original paving almost entirely of brick because of its abundance in Ohio, and its suitability to the climate. Early streets seldom had curbstones. Not only were sidewalks and the narrow streets of brick, but a drainage depression was formed of the same material at the junction between the sidewalk and the street or in the center of the street. Fences of various nature and character are used throughout the village but during the early years low iron fences seem to have been the most common. A great many of these still exist and function well. All this is without any Federal aid, or dictatorship. They kept their brick chimneys fitted with terra cotta pots, and small private patios or courtyards of the homes. It has gone to the point where wise buyers want to buy property for the rentals in this charming village instead of just improving for sentimental historic values. The neighborhood is again warm, congenial and friendly with everyone pitching for each other as it used to be.

In the other article by Mrs. William A. Scheurer, wife of the chairman of the German Village Commission and member of the Society, she describes "this 213 acres in which some 1300 structures were built by the German immigrants from 125 to 160 years ago. There are 937 single family structures, 340 Dutch brick doubles, and 47 multiple family houses, with some 3,500 residents. . . It is not just a matter of putting up or tearing down, or restoring structures—it is a people and their heritage." and "Property has never left private ownership or the tax rolls." This now charming German Village was slated for demolition a few years ago, and now second and third generation German Village families are moving back. No doubt this independent little group of some 3,500 residents will be written up in other magazines. They also have a yearly tour of houses.

Select Shampoo Carefully

A woman who spends much of the summer outdoors may need to change her shampoo. Sun and wind combine to play havoc with hair, often causing excess dryness. Select a creamy shampoo that has special conditioners—a shampoo to cleanse hair thoroughly without stripping it of natural oils. A cream rinse also helps make hair more manageable, at this time.

The Nose Knows; There's Just No Place Like Home

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Yeah, it's great comin' home," James Durante philosophized, "When ya got somethin' to come home to."

The Great Durante is now home from his half-year of wandering about the country to earn a living with his violent, endearing brand of comedy. Such has been his life for most of his 73 years. The difference is that now he has a wife and daughter to return to.

"And whatta difference it is!" he explains. "Them two make all the work worth it."

Home in Spring

Durante averages six months of playing the top night clubs of the nation, usually returns to his Beverly Drive home in later spring. He'll take a local date; last week he was playing Humphrey Dumpty in NBC's special "Through the Looking Glass," which will appear Nov. 6.

Otherwise he preserves his summers, especially the three months he spends with wife, Marge, and daughter, Cece, at Del Mar, 100 miles south.

"I wouldn't miss that for the world," said Jimmy. "In the mornin' I'm out fishin' in the surf; I love it. Then in the afternoon I go to the racetrack. I don't bet much, 'cause you can't win anyway when you play nine races. And that daily double! Murder!"

He is admittedly a fond parent, having become one late in the game. The Durantes adopted Cece four years ago. She can do no wrong in his eyes. The only thing about her he deprecates is the nose.

Button Nose Daughter

"How d'ya like that kid?" he shrugged. "All she got for a nose is a button. It's no bigger'n a pimple. I keep pullin' on it, hopin' that'll make it grow. Nuttin' happens."

Come early autumn, Jimmy will once more be resuming his vagabondage. His wife and daughter sometimes join him in resorts like Miami and Puerto Rico, but most of the time they stay home. While he misses them, he doesn't mind the gypsy life.

"Ya know, it keeps me from gettin' rusty," he said. "It ain't such hard work; I do an hour and 15 minutes, coupla times a night. And the time I spend out there with Sonny (King) and the rest of the boys is real fun."

"Why, you go out on the floors of some of those joints and you can just feel the audience likin' you. It's like electricity, dat's what it is."

Whatever it is, Jimmy thrives on it. He seems to have lost none of the explosive energy for which he has been noted throughout his long career. He retains the ability to overwhelm any audience.

Charge Dismissed

A charge dealing with a violation of the city curfew ordinance lodged recently against Mrs. Dolores Swarthout, 39, of Box 101, Bloomington, was dismissed in city court today. She was booked on the charge police said, after her son, under the age of 16, allegedly lingered in a local diner after 11 p. m. last month.

Actor Compares Stage, Screen And TV Acting

By RICHARD BASEHART (For CYNTHIA LOWRY)

EDITOR'S NOTE—Now a star of an ABC science-fiction adventure series, Richard Basehart has a list of acting credits stretching from Broadway and "Othello" to films including "La Karamazov."

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — People seem continually surprised to find me playing Adm. Nelson on "Voyage To The Bottom Of The Sea," and inevitably I am asked to compare acting in a science-fiction series for television with the work I've done on the stage and screen.

Most Prefer the Stage

Most actors who have worked in all three media will prefer acting on the stage, and I'm no exception. Only on the stage is the success of the production, in any given performance, almost solely dependent upon the actors. The producer and director are relegated to the audience before the opening-night curtain goes up.

Motion pictures and television are the director's media. With the cameraman and the film editor, he determines what the audience will eventually see, not the actor. On-stage an actor creates and hopes to refine continually his characterization before a live audience. A film is done in disconnected fragments in the relative isolation of a sound stage.

In favoring stage performances, however, too many actors fail to mention the merits of the other two mediums. Not the least of these is the financial reward for film work, which far exceeds that of the stage. But even setting finances aside, films and television have unique attractions for an actor. A stage performance, as an art form, is lost when the curtain comes down. And the relative permanency of a motion picture, if it is well done, appeals to all of us. On the other hand, cringing before television's late movies, most actors who have worked in them might settle for a deal less permanency. Then, too, the film offers the chance for greater variety, both vocally and physically. With a camera and microphone close at hand, a whisper or a raised eyebrow can convey an idea that would be lost on the stage.

In stage rehearsals a cast always hits a sag period, usually about the third week, during which an element of boredom creeps in. Since a movie company rehearses intensively just a few pages of script a day, the sag period comes more quickly, and the cameras often record it, resulting in an uneven product.

Time Pressure on TV Television, however, is strangely enhanced by the pressure of time. It combines many of film making's methods for decreasing error while offering some of the immediacy of the stage. There is no sag period because time doesn't allow it—the actor must deal with what is right here, right now.

As a result, there are fewer cases of nerves among television actors. You do the best you can at any particular moment. It doesn't always work, but at least you are always on the upgrade. The actor adds shading to his character over a season or two, not in the course of a single story.

Claim Unlawful Search on T'way, Dismissal Sought

Two Albany men arrested last March 28 on the Thruway for speeding, seek dismissal of an indictment charging them with criminally possessing a dangerous knife and razor. They charge that their car was unlawfully searched, and that the troopers under the law could not search their car after it had been stopped for a traffic violation.

Michael Cooper, counsel for Franklin Roosevelt Sutton, 26, of 40 Cherry Street, Albany, appeared at Ulster County special term Wednesday and sought to have the charge dismissed on the grounds that the troopers had no right to search the car when the vehicle had been stopped for a traffic violation. Assistant District Attorney Robert MacKinnon opposed.

Cooper argued that Sutton, a passenger in the car, could not be charged with speeding and he argued that the search of the car was illegal. Riley Robinson, of 143 First Street, Albany, was the driver of the car. Cooper told County Judge Raymond J. Mino that the car had been stopped and the two men instructed to leave the car and place their hands on the hood of the car. He said one of the troopers went to the rear of the car, unlocked the trunk and inspected it but found nothing. The car was searched and the knife and razor found. Cooper argued that the men were then technically under arrest. He charged that the search of the car violated the constitutional rights of the men. Judge Mino reserved decision.

IN DOCTOR'S HANDS

For better or worse, Medicare is officially in operation.

The hope, of course, is that it will be for the better, that it will both improve the health of the nation's elderly and grant them a new freedom—or at least a measure of freedom—from the specter of disabling injury or illness that could wipe out their life's savings and make them a burden on their children.

It is more than a hope. It is the belief of millions of Americans, who express their wishes through their representatives in Congress.

Medicare will inevitably cause some strains and dislocations within the nation's medical facilities, which are not geared for any great upsurge of demands upon them.

These strains, if they develop, will require time, money and effort to overcome. But they will also serve to reveal weaknesses and deficiencies in our medical resources that ought to be remedied even if there were no Medicare.

The real, long-term success of the program rests in the hands of America's 300,000 doctors. They did not want it for the most part; they fought it, but now they have it and only they can make it work.

Let them heed the words of Dr. Charles L. Hudson, new president of the American Medical Association:

"We are not stepping off the brink into a bottomless pit of professional destruction and despair," he said in his inaugural address before the AMA's policy-making House of Delegates, meeting in Chicago.

For many physicians, that bottomless pit holds the fear that Medicare is but the first long step on a short road to the nemesis called "socialized medicine."

If this is so, and if it is something that should not be allowed to happen, then let them be reminded that the most effective lobby for socialized medicine, as it was for Medicare, is a hidebound medical community that says, "No, no, a thousand times no," rather than, "Wait, we have a better idea."

Rather than waste their "collective professional energy to belabor the past," said Dr. Hudson, doctors must become "receptive to new ideas and become the leaders in experimentation in the mechanisms of medical practice."

For the simple truth is that if doctors do not lead, they will be led.

Congressman O'Konski says the "extreme hardship" deferment of a wealthy young actor "nauseates me." He has that in common with a lot of draftees.

HOT WEATHER HEROES

The recent heat wave over much of the nation calls to mind that instructive variant on an old saying, "It's not the heat, it's the stupidity." The application of a little common sense can do much to relieve the suffering.

Well, maybe "much" is an exaggeration. There are times when nothing seems to help. But it does help to follow one basic precept: Roll with the punch.

Don't fight the heat, determined to carry on exactly as on a cool day. Ease off on physical activity, stay in the shade when possible, drink plenty of liquids, eat salt to keep the cooling mechanism functioning well. In short, don't be a hot weather hero. Run away to fight another day. That makes it seem cooler, anyway.

New York turns a cold shoulder on King Faisal—whose aides retort that he defies all such attempts to teach him better manners.

ENDLESS BREADLOAF

The ingenuity of the inventive mind is a recurrent source of wonder to those who lack it. The point is illustrated again by a New Hampshire industrial engineer's receipt of a patent for what he calls an endless breadloaf system of baking. The idea is so simple that one's reaction, as often happens, is: Why didn't I think of that?

What Peter J. Booras of Keene, N. H., has done is to devise a method whereby bakeries, instead of shaping individual loaves, will simply run an endless belt of

THE DOCTORS WILL SWEAT IT OUT

Medicare's a-comin' in, and it would take a whole battery of Secretary of Defense McNamara's best computers to make a meaningful estimate of the pressure on the nation's hospital facilities that could result from it.

It so happens that the new graduates from our eighty-eight medical schools have just pushed the doctor population of the United States over the 300,000 mark for the first time. The American Medical Association claims that the number of doctors in the U. S. has been increasing at a faster rate than the general population—which, presumably, is an oblique way of saying that the agitation about a shortage of physicians is a lot of nonsense. The AMA says that "in 1960, physicians totaled 252,984, or one physician for every 737 people." At the end of 1965, "the number rose to 292,088... or one physician for every 681 people." By 1975, so the AMA prophesies, there will be one doctor for every 638 persons.

These figures may be reassuring, but the layman who has had his own personal misadventure in an attempt to get quick medical attention, or an early assignment to a hospital, will want to know a lot more about other factors affecting the overall picture. Not so long ago the federally appointed Bane Commission reported that the medical schools were not graduating physicians fast enough to keep up with the population explosion. The AMA contends that the Bane Commission missed the mark because it failed to foresee such things as the boom in medical school construction and the influx of physicians from Europe who have been coming to the U. S. for new opportunities in medical education. But the AMA seemingly contradicts its own optimistic forecasts when it expresses worry about the possible drain on physicians' energies connected with handling a surge of new patients under Medicare. The fear about wasting time on the bookkeeping involved in Medicare billing indicates that doctors are already up to their necks in work. And the relevant deduction from this is that there could be an undersupply of doctors if the newly-covered 65-and-over groups really inundate the hospitals.

The imponderables in the new equation forced by Medicare are many. And the British expert, who is not reassuring, especially in the light of aging populations. Nobody knows how hypochondriacal the elderly in the U. S. will turn out to be. And nobody knows just what percentage of the hypochondria will be justified by discoveries that aches and pains which have gone unreported in the past have a substantial basis in fact.

The trouble with overall statistics is that they often conceal more than they reveal. The family doctor has been becoming a rarity in many regions. Specialists have taken over, a few of whom do some general practitioner type of work. Individual experiences are to be taken with a grain of salt, yet it is a fact that if you burn your hands in a kitchen accident in a small community on a week-end and try to get expert attention from a local physician you may run into a grand run-around from a telephone answering service that is unable to locate a doctor who will see you. In which case, you may have to drive to the emergency ward of a distant city hospital, where there is attention to be had. This sort of thing, which happened to some one I know just last week, amounts to no great tragedy, but it does cast doubt on the theory that the doctors are all in the right places.

Since the new medical discoveries—antibiotics, vaccines—enable physicians to make quick cures or to forestall sickness altogether, doctors can handle numerical workloads that would have been impossible a generation ago. But with the coming of Medicare—and, after a few years, Medicare—the old statistics could be meaningless. The doctors will have to sweat it out for a few months or even years before they can know what the future will bring. If it is any consolation to them, the politicians will be sweating it out a little more fearfully. A Grand Central Terminal crush at the hospitals between July and election day in November could hurt at the polls even more than inflation or the war in Viet Nam.

No Sure Cure Known For Fingernail Problem

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—All my fingernails crack clear down to the cuticle. What can I do about this?

A—This is a common complaint, especially in women. The cause is uncertain, but it is usually worse in older persons than in the young. There is no sure cure. Several nail hardeners are available but they are of doubtful value. The same is true of special diets for this condition.

The best treatment is to cut your nails short to prevent their catching on various objects to protect them with gloves when you do any manual labor.

Q—Is there any cure for a fungus infection of the nails?

A—Deep-seated fungus infections of the nails are admittedly hard to cure but a course of griseofulvin by mouth, combined with local applications of Adviclin, should clear up the infection within three months unless the fungus is Candida (Monilia), in which case tetracycline phosphate with nystatin would be more effective.

Q—For many years I have had white spots on my fingernails. What causes them and how can I get rid of them?

A—These spots are due to imperfect development of the nails as they leave the growth center under your skin. This may be caused by injury to the matrix or to separation of the nail from the underlying nail bed. The condition is not a threat to your health. No treatment is known but nail lacquer will mask the spots.

Q—What causes my toenails to become so hard I can't cut them? Is there any remedy for this?

A—The cause may be a hereditary trait, poor circulation due to wearing shoes that are too tight, a fungus infection or psoriasis. Finding the cause is the first step toward treatment but at best a cure is likely to prove difficult.

Q—Which foods contain keratin, the substance that makes the nails strong?

A—Keratin is a hard protein that is found in skin, hair, nails and teeth. Your body makes its own supply and various diets, advocated to lend your body a helping hand with this task have been disappointing. By the same token, biting your nails and swallowing the pieces will not solve your problem.

Q—My doctor says I have circulatory stasis. What is it? Can it be cured?

A—This is sluggish circulation. It can cause cold hands and feet and it increases the likelihood of clots forming in your veins. Your doctor must discover the underlying cause before he can offer you anything more than symptomatic relief.

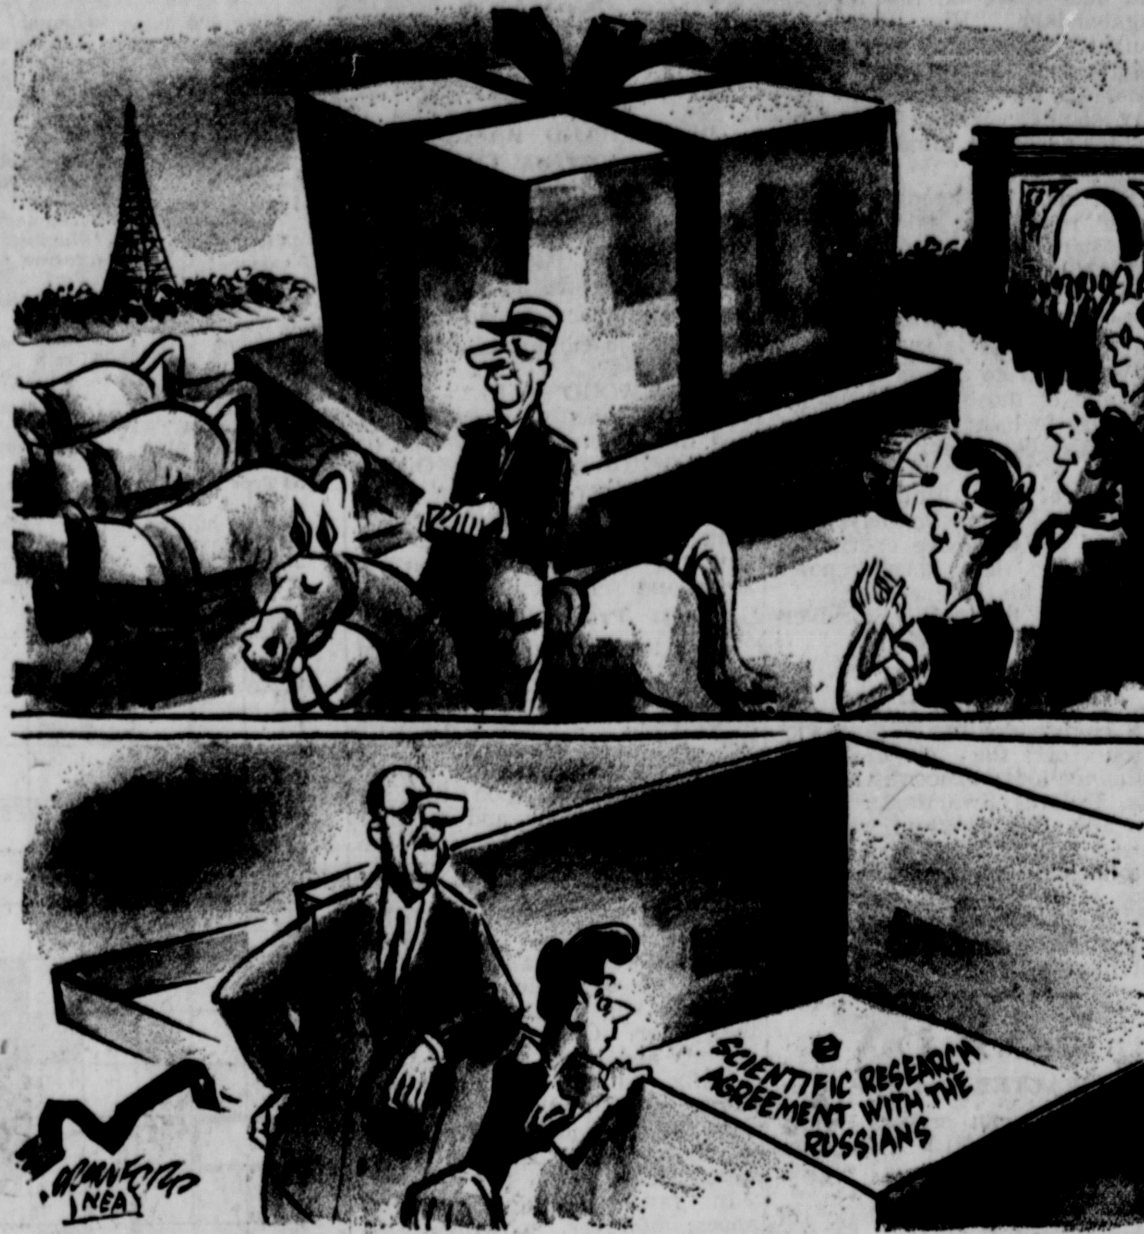

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

dough through the ovens and chop it into suitable lengths when it is baked.

The only fault which comes to mind off hand is that those lovely end crusts will be eliminated. But lots of people, it seems, don't care for the crusts. So it looks as though the endless breadloaf will soon be with us.

Bombing of targets near Hanoi is justified as the only thing left to do. But there's always Peking—and it may come to that,

"I Picked It Up in Moscow for You, Cherie!"

Washington News

By RAY CROMLEY

Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk here indicated Mao Tse-tung's Red China won't invade Viet Nam openly with armies or sizeable plane attacks at this time regardless of what military targets the United States bombs in North Viet Nam.

These studies were completed and digested before the U. S. bombed oil storage facilities and the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong.

One reason Red China is believed unlikely to seek adventure now is that there is a serious split within the Communist Chinese army.

One group of high officers insists that if the Red army is to be expected to stand up to major Western armies, it must modernize with considerable amounts of modern missile and nuclear equipment. They say it would take more than guerrilla tactics to stand off the United States. This defies Mao's precepts.

Top men have already been purged over this problem—but it hasn't died.

Because of Red China's serious economic problems party leaders know funds can't be diverted for drastic army modernization. These party leaders insist Communist spirit is the answer to modern enemy weapons. They say if the army's spirit is strengthened, it can stand up against any enemy.

So long as this army struggle continues, it's believed, Peking will not be prepared to test Red China's armies in a gamble that might involve the United States.

The army is not Mao Tse-tung's only problem. The current political turmoil inside Red China is serious. It involves more than the intellectuals being attacked. There is widespread dissatisfaction among farmers. Many local party officials are out of hand. There is student unrest.

Some totalitarian countries react to internal trouble by becoming more reckless. They turn to foreign wars to divert their people from internal miseries.

The U. S. studies, however, show that Mao's tactic is different. He likes a firm base. When he runs into a serious domestic problem, his domestic and foreign policies become more cautious.

Mao's aides may make extremely belligerent speeches, but his moves are carefully planned. The military attacks on India and the Korean adventure came at times of firm political "calm" within Communist China.

At home and abroad, Red China was active but very cautious for a while after the breakdown of the Great Leap Forward and during the period of strong peasant unrest which followed.

Tung Chi-ching, the young Peking attaché in Burundi who defected, makes note of the internal "leisurely" period which followed the Great Leap collapse.

Tung reports that in his college the informer system was temporarily "abandoned" militia drills dropped, criticism and struggle meetings cut back. There was less punishment for wrong thinking.

Tung points out that in Red China periods of "leniency" and periods of toughness alternate. When things are going well, the party tightens political and thought controls and increases persecutions. When things are going poorly, the party "eases up" temporarily at home and takes fewer chances abroad.

Twenty and Ten Years Ago

July 6, 1946—The Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association reported 28 companies signed up, to date, for the July 27 parade here.

The area retail milk price went up three cents on a quart.

It was estimated that 400 and 500 parking meters would be needed for the city.

A promotional civil service for men of rank in the police department and one for appointment of patrolmen were scheduled for July 9 and 10.

July 6, 1956—Residents of the towns of Marlborough, Rosendale and Rochester were to elect a school board July 10 for the newly formed centralized district.

Sheriff Cluett Schantz issued certificates to men who qualified in the Ulster County Volunteer Fire Police School.

IBM sought more land in its Town of Ulster plant area.

William E. Rylance, of West Chestnut Street, had resigned from the local school board and was succeeded by George W. Schneider, of Dunnema Avenue.

Current Appeal for Viet

LBJ Resorts to Technique Of Securing Public Support

By BARRY SCHWEID

WASHINGTON (AP)—Four days after he became president, Lyndon B. Johnson declared: "I cannot bear this burden alone. I need the help of all Americans, and all America."

He has resorted to this technique again and again since then, making support for an administration program, bill or course of action a deeply personal matter.

Using Technique Again

And now, in mounting an offensive for his Viet Nam policy, Johnson is using his patented personal technique once more—in spades.

"There is no human being in all this world who wishes... peace to come to the world more than your president of the United States," he said last week in Omaha.

"And if you are too busy or not inclined to help, please count 10 before you hurt," he told a crowd assembled on the bank of the Missouri River.

At his news conference Tuesday at Johnson City, Johnson voiced high praise for the U.S. forces in Viet Nam and added this patriotic note:

More Thought Needed

"I am fearful that sometimes we do not give enough thought to those men as we sit here in the luxury of our front porch and lawn, that we don't recognize the men that are dying for us out in the rice paddies."

Not all of America's wars have been popular on the home front, but the war of patriotism largely succeeded in stilling meaningful opposition. The Viet Nam war is particularly unpopular.

In part, what Johnson is doing is seeking to squeeze out dissension from the stepup in the war's tempo by wrapping his policy in patriotism and in the institution of the presidency itself.

He does not ask support for himself as such but for the institution. This gives a nonpartisan gloss to the policy and seeks to reduce opposition to the level of petty bickering.

See No Solution

The "doves" and others who have doubts about the wisdom of the course the United States is following in Viet Nam see no easy solution.

Johnson is not saying there is one, but he insists there is only one course the United States can follow: Bring inexorable military pressure on North Viet Nam "until the day they decide to end this aggression and to make an honorable peace."

And he is saying it is his patriotic duty to steer on—and the patriotic duty of all Americans to follow.

While Marines are "wading through the rice paddies to their belts," he said in Omaha, "the least they are entitled to is for you to be as brave as they are and to stand up and give them the support they need here at home."

Not Going to Run

"We're not going to tuck our tail and run out of South Viet Nam," the President said at another point.

Bravery. Duty. Loyalty to friends in trouble. Not running away from responsibility. These are at the heart of patriotism.

The question now is whether the President's expression of these virtues will unite the country more solidly behind him—and convince some of his critics to drop their brickbats.

Jim Bishop: Reporter

The customers in Sam's Barbershop wait for a haircut with sexy magazines on their laps. They are tall and small, gregarious and silent. They are willing to talk about women, if anyone pretends to know anything about the subject. The losers prefer horse racing, where every customer is an expert—incontrovertible no matter what he says.

On the wall opposite the four barber chairs is a mural of a horse race, running in the wrong direction. The short barber says he wanted to put a few bob on a 2-year-old named Jim Bishop, but the nag wasn't in the mood and was scratched at Aqueeduct.

The racing talk died as quickly as the sexy topic, and an ample manicurist staged a mild flirtation with my fate. The two barbers and four customers watched, but the romantic innuendoes between them proved that neither one was ready and they were running through an old game just for the practice.

Sam said he still liked baseball, and he said it like someone who is ready to duck. One of the customers longed for the good old days when ball players did phenomenal things for small prices, rather than the modern notion of doing small things for phenomenal prices.

Everybody got into the act, and the scissors snipped a little faster. The man in the first chair said he wanted the hair on his head cut long and the hair on his nose short. The horse trainer in the third chair crossed his feet, and the holes in his soles looked like a poor man's air conditioner.

Sam said that today's game is faster and more scientific, and three customers (two waiting and one in the chair) wanted to chip in and get Sam's noodle examined. They agreed that the barber didn't know his shears from third base because he isn't old enough to speak with authority.

The tall skinny one with the blue veins in his face said that John McGraw knew how to fight for a win, even when his Giants were outclassed by such teams as the Red Legs from Cincinnati. The only time McGraw was outthunk, they agreed, was when he had a batting practice pitcher who was doing something he shouldn't—fanning his team mates.

McGraw decided to promote the guy to the starting lineup, and the pitcher declined, with thanks. The manager, who looked like a shillelagh which has been hammered too far into the ground, asked the Pinkerton Agency to trail the pitcher and find out why they had the answer in a week. The batting practice pitcher was taking a bag of used balls every day and hocking them at a tavern for a couple of quarts of Old Deadly.

And how about Sal Maglie, my father said. He had more nerve than talent. When he pitched for the Giants, everybody tapped him for a couple in the first two innings, but nobody could get a hit after the third. He was the only pitcher who, in the ninth with the bases loaded, tossed three successive jug-handled curves, which had to bend over the plate for the right call.

Today, the Quiet One said, keeping his finger on the page in Playboy where he could study the Bunny of the Month, pitchers are out there to hold conferences, watch the batter, hitch their belts, take time out, pull at their caps, dig a hole with their cleats, study the scoreboard, and pray that nobody expects them to throw the ball.

Sam said that maybe the customers had a point. He was too young to remember a guy like Grover Cleveland Alexander, or Dizzy Dean, who sometimes didn't need anybody on the field except a catcher. The Quiet One said that if Sam was too young he should stick to shearing the suckers. No one said anything to the manicurist, but she said that doing men's nails was like tilling a farm.

The Quiet One said that Alexander, who was too old and sick to pitch, was called up to throw a few balls in the World Series between the Cardinals and the Yankees with the count three games to three. The old thrower came out of the dugout with Yankees on all the bags and Murderers Row coming up. Alexander was hung over and looked like an embalmed jockey.

He waved off all the signals from the catcher and having nothing on the ball but his arthritic hands, tossed three wide ones to Tony Lazzeri and watched him swing at all three. Then he fanned Lou Gehrig, who almost went to his knees. Babe

Ruth came up and the crowd went wild. Grover Cleveland Alexander choked their cheers by causing the mighty Babe to pop up.

Today, my father said, looking away from the manicurist temporarily, a manager needs $250,000 a year; a psychologist to take care of a pitcher with an arm made out of peanut brittle. Sam the Barber shook the big bib and called for the next customer.

"Well," he said hopefully, "what do you guys think about women? I'm not too old to put in a good word for the fillies. Anything new with them?"

The Viet Nam War Changes; Cong Now Faces Disaster

EDITOR'S NOTE—Associated Press correspondent Bob Poos has spent 10 months in Viet Nam, much of it covering the crucial 2nd Corps area which encompasses the central highlands and coastal plain. Here are some observations of what has taken place there in the past year, coupled with an interview with Maj. Gen. Stanley R. Larsen, top American officer in the region.

By BOB POOS

Associated Press Writer

NHA TRANG, South Viet Nam (AP)—Last fall and winter the allies were clearly losing the war against Communist insurgents in Viet Nam. Now, just as clearly, the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese are staggering under punishment from the Americans, Koreans, and the revitalized South Vietnamese army.

Some time ago, the North Vietnamese general, Vo Nguyen Giap, conqueror of the French during the Vietnam war, boasted that he would defeat the Vietnamese army and its allies in the central highlands and the coastal region, that he would cut the country in two there, and choke it to death.

Allies Stop Drive

American, Vietnamese, and Korean blood and energy have thwarted this aim thus far.

Last December, a well-informed source in Pleiku, key city of the central highlands, told a newsmen: "Get out of here quick. The North Vietnamese are liable to hit this place hard, take it and hold it just long enough to get the allies to bomb it. This is too close to Christmas to get killed."

At that time, the Pleiku airport contained numerous Vietnamese civilians waiting patiently for the next plane headed for a more secure area, mute testimony that expectations for the future were gloomy.

But there has been a considerable reversal of fortunes since then. Now it is the insurgents who are kept off balance by wide-ranging allied military operations.

Destroy Eight Battalions

In the past 30 days, through a combination of good luck and planning, allied military operations have thwarted at least four Communist strikes. During the past half-year, at least eight battalions of elite Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops have been chopped up by allied fire power.

There have been several architects of allied success but among the foremost are a pair of U.S. major generals, Stanley R. Larsen, senior American in the corps, and Harry W. O. Kindard, who brought the U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division to Viet Nam and directed it from its beginning through its most outstanding successes.

Working with them has been Maj. Gen. Vinh Loc, a relative of Viet Nam's last emperor, Bao Dai. The Vietnamese general does not particularly like Americans but respects their energy and military ability.

Larsen said in a recent interview: "The most outstanding thing I have seen in the past year is the revitalization of the Vietnamese forces."

Once somewhat dispirited and lethargic, Vietnamese soldiers in this area have become aggressive and are proving more of a match for their enemy.

Cong Have 30,000 Troops

The Communists have in central Viet Nam about 10 regiments of North Vietnamese regulars, about 30,000 men, together with an equal number of hard core South Vietnamese regulars and guerrillas.

Confronting them are the U.S. Air Cavalry, the 1st Brigade of the 101st Airborne Division, more than a division of Koreans, the 3rd Brigade of the 25th Infantry Division, 12,000 regular Vietnamese troops and government militia.

There has been much discussion of Communist "monsoon aggression," an enemy move that theoretically would be aided by the rains that predominate in this area at this time of the year. Yet allied leaders are not particularly worried.

"If the Communists launch any major offensive—and they badly need a military-political victory here—they would have to accomplish it with 24 hours, indeed quicker than that," says Larsen. "We've simply got the power and mobility to punish them too severely should they maintain an operation much longer than that."

American and Vietnamese military men believe the insurgents will try sooner or later for a quick victory. Probably it will be an attempt to overrun one of the American-Vietnamese Special Forces camps which sit on North Vietnamese routes of supply along the Cambodian border.

Along with military success, the allies have been accomplishing less spectacular but possibly even more important achievements. Highways that were once popular Viet Cong ambush sites are now traveled safely. Almost every major operation center, from northernmost Kontum Province to the 2nd Corps limit just north of Saigon, is free from enemy attack except by harassment and local terrorism.

There are indications that

Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops are affected by a drop in morale. Where once only a few insurgent soldiers voluntarily surrendered, now even Communist officers are themselves in. Frequently these among the many who turn Communists volunteer valuable information.

The Vietnamese peasant, who throughout history has gone along with the apparent winner in his country's unending strife, is reported more and more reluctant to work as a Viet Cong porter or part-time guerrilla.

There is one thing, however, that must be accomplished to assure allied success in central Viet Nam: The routes of entry used by the north Vietnamese must be sealed off.

Allied success in central Viet Nam will not be easy and it will not be quick.

Shorten the Skirt

To make a long story short you simply lengthen the torso and shorten the skirt. Sleek funnel tops flare to kooky bottoms for that perpetual motion effect.

Albany Passes 2 Bills Forgiving Strikers in N.Y.

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The Legislature has voted to forgive New York City workers who went on strike last year — but the root of the problem remains on the state's statute books today.

The Senate and Assembly passed two measures Tuesday to excuse ferry-boat workers from the harsh penalties of the Condon-Wadlin law.

The controversial law governs labor relations for public employees. Legislative leaders have termed it unworkable because of its mandatory penalties, including dismissal and forfeiture of pay raises.

Early in the 1966 session, the legislative leaders marked Condon-Wadlin high on the list of items ticketed for lawmakers' attention. Gov. Rockefeller pleaded that the law be replaced.

But the Republican-led Senate and Democratic-controlled Assembly were unable to compromise their different approaches—despite last minute efforts by the GOP to soften their proposal in an effort to attract Democratic support.

As the session faded, the Republicans offered to remove a section from their plan that prescribed withdrawal of recognition of unions that called strikes against a government body.

Instead of removing employer-recognition, the GOP substituted a proposal that would require only the loss of a striking union's dues-checkoff privilege.

But the Democrats talked. They said they could not accept another proposal in the GOP bill permitting heavy fines against the leadership of a striking union. The Democrats called the provision union-breaking in its scope.

The Democratic proposal called only for optional penalties against striking employees. Punishment could range from simple reprimand to suspension or dismissal.

Jim says: "We recently pointed out that there is no need to rebid a five-card suit merely because you hold one. Here is a hand where West held two five-card suits and felt compelled to show both of them. His opponents went on to play the hand and made their contract due to the information given by West's bids."

Oswald: "West had nothing to gain by his three-club bid. His opponents were bidding major suits and might have been able to double him had their minor suit cards been distributed differently."

Jim: "Well, West wasn't vulnerable. As it was, South played the hand well. He started by ducking the diamond opening. West continued the suit and South was in with the ace. He decided that West had to hold five cards in each minor suit for his bids. That would leave only three cards in the majors and if his singleton was in hearts a trump finesse would be needed. Could he find out about that singleton?"

Oswald: "Let's see. He led a spade to dummy's king and returned to his own hand by ruffing a diamond. Then he led a second spade to the ace. When West followed, South played his ace and another trump, finessed against East's jack, drew trumps and eventually lost two clubs."

Jim: "His line of play also guarded against a singleton spade in the West hand. Had West ruffed the second spade South would have been able to discard one of his clubs on the spade ace later on and still make his contract."

To Appeal Order
Erie Supervisors
Constitutionality

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A State Supreme Court decision that Erie County's 54-member Board of Supervisors is unconstitutional will be appealed in the State Court of Appeals, lawyers in a taxpayers' suit say.

Lawyers for both the county and the taxpayers announced their decision to appeal Tuesday after the Appellate Division Fourth Department of the State Supreme Court, upheld unanimously the State Supreme Court ruling.

Must Be Approved

Justice Harold P. Kelly's ruling last Wednesday also restrains the board from using a weighted voting law, adopted Feb. 2, until it is approved in a referendum.

Kelly said the board was malapportioned because it did not give equal representation as prescribed in the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" ruling.

Kelly also ordered the board to submit a permanent redistricting plan by July 15 for court approval. After court approval, the plan would be placed on the Nov. 8 ballot. Assuming voter acceptance, the plan would become effective Jan. 1, 1968.

Kelly said the weighted voting plan was legal and could be used in the interim after approval in a referendum.

Filed by Taxpayers

The suit was filed by taxpayers to speed reapportionment. Their lawyers argued Tuesday the weighted voting plan was invalid and unworkable for Erie County.

Norman A. Stillier, county attorney, maintained that the board should be permitted to use the weighted voting plan immediately without voter approval because Kelly had already declared it legal.

The weighted plan would permit each of the current 54 supervisors one-tenth of a full vote for each 1,000 registered voters he represents. Under the present setup, each of the county's 25 towns, two cities and 27 wards in Buffalo is represented.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 33-year-old sister who has been under psychiatric care for nearly a year. I can't understand why. She is a very smart person. She reads constantly and can discuss politics, religion, psychology, art, and events with the most educated people, and every one remarks on how brilliant she is.

She's even written poetry and short stories which have been published. Her mechanical aptitude amazes men. She can fix clocks, radios, and repair small motors. So will you please tell me why a person who is as smart as she is needs psychiatric treatment?

DEAR PUZZLED: Emotional disorders have no more to do with intelligence, cultural interests, or motor skills than diabetes or arthritis have. If you knew precisely why your sister needed psychiatric treatment, you'd be a psychiatrist. Let it go at that.

DEAR ABBY: My only child had a birthday yesterday. In about a month I will get a letter from my sister-in-law in which she will say, "Didn't Stevie have a birthday this month? Or was it last month? What can I send him?"

Abby, I have five nieces and nephews, all the children of my only brother and this sister-in-law, and I remember every one of their birthdays, Christmas, and all special occasions.

If I can remember all of theirs, why can't they remember one of mine? My son is not greedy. He would appreciate being remembered with a card if it came on THE day. Please print this. A word to the wise, you know.

REMEMBERED: It will take more than "a word." The wise don't need it, and the otherwise won't need it.

$5.7 Million Set Aside by State For Medical Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — More than $5.7 million has been set aside in the state's supplemental budget to help finance participation in the federal medicare program and the state's related, controversial medical-aid plan.

A state official said Tuesday, however, the funds would be "more than balanced" by added federal aid.

Medicare, the federal program set up for persons over 65, is financed basically through Social Security, while the medical-aid plan, based on a provision in the Medicare law, pays medical bills for state residents deemed needy.

The $5.7 million appropriation includes: —$1,700,000 to the Mental Hygiene Department for increased use of its facilities and an additional $750,000 for administration.

Won't Run Again

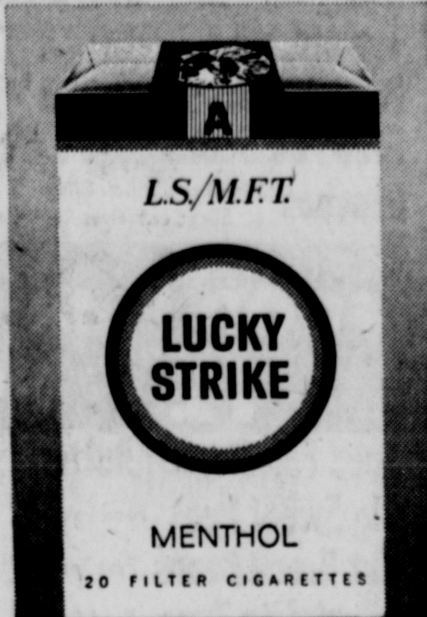

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — Robert M. Henry says he will step down as Cattaraugus County Democratic chairman to devote more time to his campaign for an Assembly seat.

Henry, who is a candidate in the 149th District, said Tuesday he will not seek re-election to the county post. He has served as chairman since 1962, when he succeeded the late Fred W. Forness Jr.

Two Are Appointed

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—The Assembly majority leader and a former Republican state chair are new members of the Saratoga Springs Commission. The Senate unanimously confirmed Tuesday Gov. Rockefeller's appointment of Moses M. Weinstein, D-Queens, and William L. Pfeiffer of Old Westbury. The agency supervises the state-operated Saratoga Springs Reservation in the Upstate resort community. Members of the commission receive no salary. The Senate also confirmed the reappointment to the commission of John Hay Whitney of New York City, publisher of the New York Herald-Tribune, Carl S. Hallauer, a Rochester businessman, and William H. St. Thomas, a Gloversville businessman.

Victim of Crime May Get Funds Under New Law

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller's signature was assured today on a bill that would permit the victim of a crime to collect up to $15,000 in state compensation for bodily injuries.

The Republican - ruled Senate approved the measure, 44 - 17, Tuesday, changing only the effective date. The Assembly concurred later Tuesday in setting the date back from Oct. 1, 1966 to March 1, 1967.

The bill, initially suggested by Rockefeller, would establish a Crime Victims Compensation Board to administer the program and pay benefits, with an initial appropriation of $500,000.

The three-member board, all of whose members would have to be lawyers, would be appointed by the governor, subject to Senate approval. Board members would serve seven - year - long terms, with salaries set by the governor.

Under terms of the measure, compensation also could be paid to:

—A surviving spouse or children of a victim, who died as a result of the crime.

—Any other persons dependent for support on the victim.

—Any person injured while going to the aid of another.

No awards could be paid to any person who is in any way responsible for a crime, or to the family of person responsible for the crime.

In order to qualify, a victim would have to show an out-of-pocket loss of at least $100 on medical expenses or the loss of two straight weeks of pay.

Longest reign of any world heavyweight boxing champion was that of Joe Louis—11 years, 8 months and 9 days.

See No Legal Right To Bar Medicaid Pay

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A State Supreme Court justice says "no clear legal right" has been established to bar payments under the state's new medical aid law.

Judge Lawrence H. Cooks issued that opinion Tuesday in denying a request by the Citizens Committee for Responsible Government to prevent the payments.

The group is seeking further court action, however, and is to present further arguments Friday.

The committee had asked Cooke last week to prohibit the State Social Welfare Department from making payments under the new law, pending a court review.

An attorney for the group argued that the payments should be delayed because the organization believed the law went beyond the intent of the Legislature. A lawyer for the state argued that the group's petition lacked specific details.

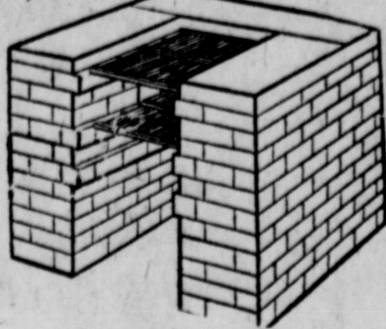

Some critics of the program have charged the plan to pay medical bills for those deemed needy is too liberal.

Across this ocean, Schweppes invented Bitter Lemon.

"We established a beachhead for Schweppes Bitter Lemon," says Commander Whitehead, "and then it Schwept the whole country."

THREE years ago we invaded New York with Schweppes Bitter Lemon," recalls Commander Whitehead, President of Schweppes (U.S.A.) Ltd. "The gallant Broadway Brigade fought back bravely. The Madison Avenue Irregulars put up a stiff defense. But resistance began to crumble as soon as the first Schweppes Bitter Lemon was poured into a glass, over ice. After all, this was the first adult soft drink in the world.

"Then we launched a spirited attack with gin and Schweppes Bitter Lemon, supported by vodka and Schweppes Bitter Lemon. The battle was won! Remaining pockets of resistance surrendered wholeheartedly to rum and Schweppes Bitter Lemon.

"Soon we had Schwept all America!" P.S. from the Commander-in-Chief.

"Celebrate the third anniversary of this Schweppesian victory. Drink a Schweppes Bitter Lemon today."

Guilty Plea Is

since that time the U. S. Supreme Court had handed down a decision which holds that not only must a defendant be advised of his right to counsel at all states of the proceeding but must be told that in the event he does not have funds to hire counsel, he will be assigned counsel at public expense. This was not done, although Frisbie had been advised of his rights as they were defined by law on Oct. 1, 1965.

Since the recent U. S. Supreme Court decision applies to all cases not already tried, Attorney Matthews held that the statement made by Frisbie at the time of his arrest on Oct. 1, 1965, could not be used on trial.

District Attorney Joseph Torraca consented to the granting of the motion of Matthews for suppression of the statement made by Frisbie at the state police station on the evening of the crime.

Matthews then moved to withdraw the plea of "innocent" which Frisbie had previously entered to the first degree murder charge and had not entered to the first degree manslaughter charge. This was acceptable to the prosecution and was recommended by District Attorney Torraca.

Shooting Admitted

Frisbie, who appeared in court in the usual jail garb and showing the "prison pallor" common to prisoners long confined, said he was entering the plea of guilty to first degree manslaughter of his own free will and had not been promised any leniency of length of sentence by any official or prosecuting officer. He admitted that on Oct. 1, 1965 he had shot George Joseph Brennan "without intent to kill."

The shooting took place at a vacant house in the Town of Saugerties village of Veterans, Frisbie and Richard Tyte, 15, of RD 1, Kingston, had entered the house and when Brennan and a companion, Robert J. Vertetis, 26, of Mt. Marion appeared on the scene to examine the house with the intention of one of them purchasing it, the two youths ran from the house. The two men pursued them and Frisbie allegedly shot Brennan with a .22 calibre rifle, hitting him in the heart. It is charged Frisbie threw the gun to Tyte who had hit Vertetis with a knife. He then shot Vertetis in the abdomen.

The two youths left the scene, went to the home of one, changed clothes and returned to the scene. They were questioned and later taken to the trooper sub-station where they made statements.

Richard Tyte, because of his age, moved through his counsel, Frank Campochiaro, for dismissal of an indictment charging him with murder and his case was referred to Juvenile Court for disposition.

Vertetis recovered from the wound in his head caused by a knife and also the abdominal wound where he had been shot.

A number of other criminal cases were called by District Attorney Torraca for disposition.

LBJ Says U.S.

the first since last August to be broadcast live by the television network, Johnson disclosed tentative plans to cut down planned purchases of bombs and ammunition for Viet Nam.

He said McNamara tells him substantial reductions in projected production rates may be desirable within three to six months, at a savings of several hundred million dollars.

Right now, Johnson said, ordnance inventories are ample and production exceeds usage in Viet Nam. He said he doesn't want to be stuck with $12 billion of worthless and obsolete military hardware when the war ends — which he said was the case after the Korean War.

Note on Buildup

Asked if this meant the major part of the Viet Nam buildup was history, he replied, "No, I wouldn't make such an evaluation." He said more men and material will be dispatched to the war zone and, later added, "We have a policy of measured response and gradually increasing our strength from time to time. We plan to continue that."

Johnson's optimism about the progress of the war cropped up several times. He said at one point that while he was aware of the dangers of speculation, "our diplomatic reports indicate that the opposing forces no longer really expect a military victory in South Viet Nam."

At still another point, he said: "If we could only solve the problem in Viet Nam, and we think that, we could have a world that is rather peaceful and generally prosperous."

Says We're Winning

A short time before the President's news conference, Maj. Gen. Harry W. O. Kinnard told Pentagon newsmen that the United States has been winning the war militarily in the central highland area since the 1st Cavalry, Airmobile, Division he commanded arrived there 10 months ago.

Kinnard said his division, which "has done better than any other kind of division which the Army has been able to field in Viet Nam," has enforced a "general increase in security throughout" the central highland area.

Kinnard is slated to become a deputy assistant chief of staff for the Army.

Newsmen were expected to question Undersecretary of State George W. Ball at a late morning news conference about the diplomatic reports Johnson cited as indicating the Communists no longer expect to win a military victory in Viet Nam.

Resnick Will Initiate Action Against Thayer

Charging that Harry Thayer, president of WGHQ, went "beyond the bounds of fair play on which all announcers agree" in a Primary Day-slanted "Editorial of the Air," Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick (D-Elizabethtown) said today "will initiate action with the Federal Communications Commission, asking for an investigation of the local station and its executive newscaster."

Insisting that he and Thayer were long-time friends, Resnick said, nevertheless, he and other Democrats feel that "some laws have been violated," and suggested that Thayer "might as well change his call letters from WGHQ to WGOP."

At the crux of the disagreement was the accusation that Thayer, just prior to Primary Day on Tuesday, June 28, had volunteered via the air waves to give rides to the polls to Republican voters on the day of the election, at the time it was originally made, did not include rides to Democratic voters — an oversight that caused Resnick and other Democrats to suggest that the "sanctity of the air waves" had been violated, since equal time had not been given to the opposition.

Charges Rights Misuse

In announcing that he would lodge a complaint with the FCC against Thayer and WGHQ for misusing broadcast rights, Congressman Resnick reconstructed events leading up to a request to "look into the matter as thoroughly as possible."

From his summer home in Woodstock, Resnick said the chain of events began with a WGHQ editorial June 22 endorsing Alexander Aldrich for Republican candidate for Congress in the 28th District. Several days later, with only a short time left before Primary Day, Resnick noted that Thayer made his offer to transport Republicans to the polls on the day of the voting. Those who placed telephone calls to WGHQ for transportation on Primary Day were referred to another number, it is reported, and when the second number was dialed, the caller got Aldrich's headquarters. This led some to suggest that Thayer and the station were not even playing fair with the Republicans.

Resnick said that when Thayer's transportation offer was first brought to his attention just before Primary Day, he sent a telegram suggesting equal time should have been given to Democrats. Thayer, he said, publicly apologized to Democrats over the air short hours before balloting was scheduled to begin and belatedly offered to provide transportation to Democrats as well as Republicans.

That would have closed the incident, said Resnick, but in view of subsequent reports that the telephone hookup with Aldrich's headquarters existed, he visualized the possibility of FCC hearings. Old friend Thayer, Resnick said, "must learn that he is bound by regulations" just as Resnick himself is bound.

An Unprecedented Move

Resnick and his supporters feel strongly that the station stepped over the line of editorializing and giving equal time to the other side. Said Resnick, Thayer became an active participant and made his station an active participant in the campaign. "We feel it is unprecedented in the annals of radio . . . Only after our telegram did he offer apologies and agree to provide Democrats with transportation. He further implied that Thayer had played dirty pool, to say the least."

Thayer, contacted today by a Freeman reporter and asked for a statement, said he had no comment; simply felt that "Resnick was disturbed over something he misunderstood."

Career Soldier Escorts Body Of Son From Viet

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP) — Army Spec. 6 Gerald L. Smith, 48, a career soldier wounded twice in Viet Nam, has brought home the body of his son, killed in combat in Viet Nam June 30.

Smith arrived Tuesday night with the body of Army Pfc. Danny L. Smith, 22. Meeting them were Mrs. Smith and her only other child, Darrell Smith, 20, who had completed his first week of Army basic training at Ft. Bliss, Tex., when he learned of his brother's death.

"I'll bring myself home," Danny had written to a friend in a letter dated the day before the young soldier was killed. "These people can't hurt me." He would have been 23 today. "I'll be an old gray man," he wrote.

Details of the action that killed him were not available. Services were pending today at the nearby Holloman Air Force Base chapel with burial at the Ft. Bliss cemetery.

The elder Smith, nearing retirement from the Army, went to Viet Nam last December with an Army helicopter unit. His son left Ft. Bliss for Viet Nam in January. Danny was with a 1st Infantry unit.

The Smith family declined to speak to newsmen Tuesday night, but a family friend, Mrs. George Ingram, said the father was wounded twice in Viet Nam action. Danny was wounded last May but returned to his unit in June.

Legislators Will

six-month-long session and what they called the year-round demands of legislative work as factors dictating a pay raise.

"The Legislature of the State of New York is, 'next to Congress, the greatest legislative body in the world and ought to be treated as such,'" Zaretzki declared.

Brydges said legislative salaries must be increased to provide an attraction for "men who can make a contribution."

Asked by The Associated Press whether Gov. Rockefeller had been informed by the leaders of his plans to raise expense allowances, a spokesman for the governor said Rockefeller had agreed that an increase was in order.

The proposed salary boost for Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson would be in addition to the $17,500 annual allowance he draws for expenses, plus the $2,000 increase in that allowance contained in this year's supplemental budget. This would bring his total compensation next year to $49,500.

Here are the other increases in the lull for legislative officials:

—Zaretzki and Assembly Minority Leader Perry B. Duryea Jr., $2,500 each, raising their total expense allowances to $18,000, besides their $13,000 in ordinary compensation.

—Assembly Majority Leader Moses M. Weinstein, $3,000, boosting his allowance to $18,500, plus the other $13,000.

—Senate Finance Chairman Warren M. Anderson and Assembly Ways and Means Chairman Harvey M. Lifset, $2,000 each, lifting their allowances to $18,000, plus their normal compensation of $13,000.

—Sen. Samuel Greenberg, ranking minority member of the Senate Finance Committee, and Assemblyman Willis H. Stephens, ranking minority member of the Assembly Ways and Means Committee, $2,000, raising their total expense money to $9,500, plus the other $13,000.

—Sen. John H. Hughes, chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee; Sen. Edward H. Speno, chairman of the Senate Codes Committee, $2,000 each, raising their special allowances to $7,000.

—Assemblyman Louis Folmer, ranking minority member of the Assembly Judiciary Committee; Sen. William Rosenblatt, ranking minority member of the Senate Judiciary Committee; Sen. Jeremiah B. Bloom, ranking minority member of the Senate Codes Committee, and Assemblyman Julius H. Volker, ranking minority member of Assembly Codes, $1,000 each, jumping their special allowances to $4,000.

Plan Natural . . .

ing conference consisting of nine panels, each devoted to one facet of Natural Beauty, and how to protect and restore it. Hopefully the bulk of the conference will come from the participants who will speak from the floor and, we hope, offer specific recommendations for citizen and government action.

A fee will be charged to cover registration, lunch and two coffee breaks. Indication from persons interested in attending this conference would be appreciated.

The following is a brief outline of what the panel should consider:

Session I

Landscape—What is it? Natural growth, geologic form, man made control or lack of it. Who looks at it? Scenic easements. Water features. Private and public cultivation.

Hudson Valley—Ulster County has about 45 miles of frontage on this great river. What is being done to restore or preserve its natural beauty? What was it and what happened to it? How can we bring back its good features and remove the bad?

Townscapes—What makes an attractive town? Residential areas, Commercial areas, Industrial parks, Signs, Lighting, Street furniture, Planting, Trees, Traffic and Parking.

Session II

View from the Highway—We all spend a lot of our lives on wheels. What do we see? Junk yards. Billboards that are not informational. Distracting sights that cause driver inattention and accidents. What actions are needed to improve planning? To screen the ugly? To reveal scenic views? Scenic highways. Scenic easement.

Parks—State, County and Municipal. How and where do we spend our leisure time? Our recreation. Our game playing. What do we need? How are they acquired? Maintained? Policed? Who controls and who pays? How are parks related to their environment?

Historic Buildings and Sites—What inventories have been made or are planned? Which ones are preserved at present? And by whom? How are they used and maintained? Who pays?

Session III

Citizen Action—What actions can citizens take? Planning boards, Membership organizations, foundations and trusts, National, State and Local laws and aids, LWV Historical Societies, D & H Canal Society, Fish and Game Clubs, Mid Hudson Patterns for Progress, Chambers of Commerce.

Education—What is being done about educating our children's appreciation of Natural Beauty? Grade schools, high schools, colleges. Adult education. Art schools.

Aesthetics and the law—What regulations can help? Scenic easements, court review, changing attitude of courts to aesthetic considerations. Art Commissions.

Session IV

Summation—Each Chairman will briefly and succinctly sum up the essence of each panel at this final session.

Still No Word

create an overly optimistic picture" of North Viet Nam's attitude change," Ball said.

"A prevailing attitude is one thing, and translation into political decisions is something else," he added. "I wouldn't read too much into this."

Ball was questioned at length about North Viet Nam's war in the light of President Johnson's statement Tuesday that the Reds no longer expect military victory.

Ball, who is acting secretary of state while Secretary Dean Rusk is on a Far Eastern trip, said the reports have come in over the past few days from "observers in Hanoi who are there in different capacities."

Ball reported the Hanoi observers — who presumably include foreign diplomats stationed there — note "a greater war-weariness among the people" and a psychological change among government officials as well.

"Bright hopes that they had earlier," he said, "are now appearing 'frustrated' by (1) the reconciliation among feuding non-Communist groups in South Viet Nam; (2) heavy Communist military losses in the south; (3) the increased cost to North Viet Nam from waging the war, and (4) a strong U.S. showing of will to stay in the fight."

"Therefore why shouldn't there be a change in attitude?" he asked. He said it's "perfectly normal for the North Vietnamese to be depressed under the circumstances and in fact it is 'rather extraordinary' that Hanoi has not come to this before."

Ball was careful to avoid any prediction as to when the North Vietnamese change of attitude might have an impact on the war, or on what form.

On other points Ball said: "In Blockading Haiphong harbor is one of the proposals advocated as a way of increasing the war cost to North Viet Nam. Such a move would raise big political questions. Ball made no prediction as to what will be done."

—Red China has shown no evidence of intervening in the war under present circumstances.

—French President Charles de Gaulle's trip to Russia apparently has not damaged the Western alliance.

—The United States still favors both an international agreement to ban the spread of nuclear weapons, and nuclear sharing among the allies, and the two proposals are not conflicting. Objections from Moscow appear to be based on other factors.

Will Keep Trying To Reactivate Surveyor's Eye

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Scientists at Jet Propulsion Laboratory say the lunar tracking station at Canberra, Australia, will continue trying to reactivate the camera batteries of Surveyor 1, America's eye on the moon.

Previous attempts have been unsuccessful.

The spacecraft stopped transmitting pictures about three weeks ago when the long, cold lunar night set in.

Cut Speed, Cut Mishaps

LONDON (AP) — The government Road Research Laboratory says serious accidents decreased 13 per cent in the first four months after speed limits were put on 100,000 miles of major British roads.

The report indicated that the Ministry of Transport would maintain the speed limits despite vigorous protests from some drivers' organizations and sports car enthusiasts. The limits are 50 miles an hour on heavily traveled trunk roads and 70 miles on superhighways.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I would like to give you one more hint about your now-famous nylon net.

After a sunburn is completely well and the peeling stage comes along, I help it by gently rubbing with a piece of nylon net.

It doesn't hurt a bit, and hurries the awful looking peeling job.

Cordelia Carey

Now, that's what I call a smooth trick, Cordelia.

It's also wonderful for those with just naturally scaly legs and arms.

And have you ever tried rubbing your feet with nylon net after soaking them a long time? That's real luxury!

Those of you who will STILL get sunburned this year, remember that instead of rubbing liquid sunburn lotions on with the palm of your hand (which hurts so) . . . it can be poured in a finger-type plunger bottle and sprayed on! And thanks to the druggist who told us about this three years ago.

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise:

When I want the children to gargle more thoroughly, I call out the names of various towns between our home and that of an especially favorite aunt while they are gargling. They see if they can stay on the "gargle train" until we reach her home.

Fran Cushman

Dear Heloise:

I cover old, but favorite cookbooks with pretty adhesive-backed paper, and the new ones with clear plastic.

Makes for easy cleaning, and an attractive cooking library.

Eleanor M. Richardson

Dear Heloise:

I discovered that it was difficult to purchase skirts for kid-ne-shap-ed vanities, so I purchased two pairs of 30" cafe curtains and made the vanity skirts myself.

I removed the top rings and thumbtacked the curtains in place.

Two magnetic clasps placed in the front center of the vanity hold the arms closed when the vanity is not being used.

Reader

Dear Heloise:

Did you know that if you paint the rim of your flower pot with some melted paraffin, it will prevent damage to the leaves of your African violets when they touch the edge of the pot.

African Violet

No, I did not, but I checked, and you are right. Even the U.S. Government approves of this one.

Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I was having trouble with the fine guard chain on my watch. It always caught on typewriters and posting machines.

Now, before I start using these machines, I tape the watch chain to my wrist, and I don't even know it's there.

Prevents broken guard chains and frayed nerves.

Anne Kaiser

Dear Heloise:

When your pre-teen children take showers, and their hair needs washing at the same time . . . just put required amount of liquid shampoo in empty plastic pill bottles and leave it with the soap.

This will not only prevent waste of the shampoo, but will save time on your part because each child can do his own hair.

Bea

Dear Heloise:

When hanging socks on the clothesline to dry, give them a good flip while holding them by the tops.

This makes for soft toes, straighter socks, and they dry more quickly, too.

Notes to You

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP) — "This is a pickup. Hand over your money" read a note a man handed to a bank secretary.

The secretary, Mrs. Florence Rebholz, read the note and then offered a written suggestion to the man that he go to the social welfare office on South Avenue. She also handed him $1.

Police said the man, Kenneth G. Danough, 45, of Syracuse, left the branch of the Lincoln Rochester Trust Co. Tuesday and was arrested a few minutes later at a bus stop by Patrolman Frank Cardamone.

Danough was charged with attempted robbery.

Police said Danough told them he had worked for two years on a dairy farm near Syracuse. He arrived here by bus Tuesday morning, they said.

The Chamorros are the native population of the island of Guam.

FUDGE-BERRY PARFAIT ROYALE

TODAY IN HISTORY

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, July 6, the 187th day of 1966. There are 178 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1920, the Democratic party nominated Franklin D. Roosevelt for vice-president on the ticket headed by James M. Cox of Ohio.

On this date
In 1747, the early American naval hero, John Paul Jones, was born.

In 1837, the Republic Texas sent an ambassador to Washington.

In 1854, the Republican party was founded at Jackson, Mich.

In 1943, America scored a naval victory over the Japanese in the battle of the Kula Gulf.

Ten years ago — Vice-President Richard Nixon, on an Asian tour, stopped off in Saigon and lauded the anti-Communist government of South Viet Nam. He presented to President Ngo Dinh Diem a personal letter from President Eisenhower.

Five years ago—The Soviet Union signed a 10-year military aid treaty with North Korea. In signing the pact, Soviet Premier Khrushchev said Moscow pledges to support the Korean Communist regime against any possible attack by every means. One year ago — A Royal Air Force transport plane exploded near Oxford, England, killing all 41 British servicemen aboard.

May Use Electronics For Legislative Vote

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—If the will of the 1966 Assembly session swings any weight with the 1967 session, the house will vote by means of an electronic system next year.

A resolution endorsing the procedure was offered Tuesday by Brooklyn Democrat Joseph Corso and was approved, 86-46, without debate.

The object is to speed procedures, often slowed by time-consuming rollcalls. The Assembly now has 165 members. It will be reduced to 150 next year because of the court-ordered reapportionment.

Whether the electronic system actually is adopted will be up to the 1967 Assembly to decide, however.

The Senate, meanwhile, has shown little interest in electronic voting. Senate leaders maintain rollcalls present no problem in the 63-member group, which will diminish to 58 next year.

Will Add New Building to House Overgrown Library of Congress

By EDMOND LE BRETON

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Library of Congress, growing at the knowledge-explosion rate of a million items a year, is splitting its marble and steel seams. Help is in sight, but far off. After a decade of talk, Congress has approved in principle a new building that may contain the library's expansion for 25 years.

The start of construction has been delayed by a tangle that involves architects, some of the most senior members of Congress, the late Speaker Sam Rayburn and James Madison, fourth president of the United States and father of the Bill of Rights.

Meanwhile, the library, which cautiously describes itself as "in all probability the world's largest," is housed in an ornate and overcrowded Italian Renaissance building completed in 1897. A more austere, and also overcrowded, annex was completed in 1939. And the library uses portions of buildings at the former navy gun factory several miles away on the Anacostia River and an abandoned aircraft hangar. Arrangements are now being made to lease a warehouse given up by a Washington department store.

Although Congress loves its library, the agony of decision-making has delayed the new building.

Two Years Lost

"At least two years have been lost," protests Rep. Tom Steed, D-Okla., a library buff who is chairman of the appropriations subcommittee responsible for financing the library. "This funny monstrosity of a bill requires 42 different people to agree before anything can be done. It will be a miracle if the library can move into its new building five years from now."

But Rep. Kenneth J. Gray, D-Ill., who piloted through a sea of compromises the bill authorizing a $75 million building, insists it is workable legislation.

"A lot of people had to be satisfied," Gray said. "Some of the people making up the commissions involved are such as the speaker and some of the most senior members on both sides (Democratic and Republican). You couldn't leave them out of the decisions if you wanted to — and nobody wants to."

The result was legislation that gives some role in the planning and construction of the building to the House Building Committee, the Senate Building Committee, the Capitol Building Commission, the James Madison Memorial Commission, the architect of the capitol, who is not a professional architect but an executive officer for the commissions, and a special committee of the American Institute of Architects.

Under Rayburn's leadership, Congress acquired a square of land near the original library and cleared it, razing a small business section and some lovingly restored old Capitol Hill houses.

Groups Want It

The square has stood vacant ever since, a prize sought by three groups. One wants it for the library, another for an office building, and the third wants to build a memorial to James Madison, sometimes called the founding father most neglected by posterity.

The key compromise that got the Gray bill through the House was agreement to use the site for a building that would combine a Madison memorial hall with expansion space for the library.

When the redoubtable Rep. Howard W. Smith of Virginia, chairman of the Rules Committee and head of the Madison forces, agreed, the fight was over. Only five votes were cast against the bill. Of course, the Madison Commission got on the control group.

Meanwhile the flood of new acquisitions pours daily into the library, whose employees in many cases literally inch their way around the 44 million items already there.

Senator in Shorts

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The caste-conscious Senate was recovering today from seeing a cast-clad senator enter the chamber wearing Bermuda covering today from seeing a cast-clad senator enter the chamber wearing Bermuda shorts.

Sen. Jerome L. Wilson, D-Manhattan, surprised the Senate Tuesday with his entry. He explained the shorts afforded some comfort for his right leg, which was encased in a plaster cast.

Wilson, 34, said he had injured his knee while running for shelter during a rain storm here three weeks ago. He was treated at Albany Medical Center Hospital.

Wilson jokingly commented that his plight may have won him some sympathy votes last week in a primary election battle for a congressional seat.

Britons at Harvard

BOSTON (AP) — Fifty British business executives have started six weeks of classes at the Harvard Business School. They also will spend four weeks touring industries in cities across the nation as part of a program to acquaint them with American marketing methods.

Opera Next on Bill

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — The producers of the Newport jazz and folk festivals turn to opera next. The Metropolitan Opera will appear here July 12-16.

The young American who was visiting England for the first time, walked into the lobby of his hotel and pushed the button for elevator service.

Hotel Clerk — The lift will be down presently, Sir.

Young American — The lift? Oh, you mean the elevator.

Hotel Clerk — No, I mean the lift, Sir.

Young American (boasted) — I guess I should know what it's called. Somebody from the United States invented the elevator.

Hotel Clerk — Perhaps, but somebody in England invented the language.

You Can't Win

This highly well-powered friend of our'n gave up cigarettes and took up toothpicks. Now he's got the Dutch Elm disease.

Math Teacher — Now we find that X is equal to zero.

Student — Gee! All that work for nothing.

When girls start calling you "sir," about all you've got to look forward to is your social security.

Brown — Do you know, I'm losing my memory. It's worrying me to death.

Jones — (sympathetically) — Never mind, old man. Forget all about it!

When you complain that

Why We Say--

things aren't what they used to be, don't forget to include yourself.

Carol — She's always looking for a man who'll give her the shirt off his back.

Carrie — She's a goldigger?

Carol — No, a laundress!

Smith was called on the telephone by a neighbor.

Feminine Voice — Are you going down our road this morning in your car?

Smith (astonished) No. But why do you ask?

Feminine Voice (in relieved tones over the wire) — Oh, that's all right! I only wanted to know if it was safe to send my little girl around the corner to the grocery on an errand.

CARNIVAL

By DICK TURNER

"You don't suppose Eddy Jimson is foolish enough to be monkeying with those hallucinatory drugs? He actually imagined I'd trust him with a fiver!"

Disaster Returns

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Four months ago, Virgil Roller made the final payment on furniture he bought after his home was destroyed by fire in 1963. Fire struck again recently, destroying most of the family's clothing and furnishings. No one was injured.

The whippet is the fastest domesticated animal for his weight.

SUNY May Have Room in '74 For All Who Wish to Attend

By JOHN MACHACEK

The Albany

Knickerbocker News

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The State University of New York, which believes itself on the threshold of greatness, is planning for a time and a place for every high school graduate who wants to attend.

The target date is 1974, says Dr. Samuel B. Gould, university president. At that time, the university expects to enroll more than 260,000 students. The 1965-66 full-time enrollment was 107,000.

"The danger lies that in our zeal of expansion that we don't concentrate sufficiently on quality," he said.

Gould said the state university now engaged in a $1.2 billion expansion program, must wring quality out of all its campuses if it is to move to the forefront of higher education.

Cities Key Schools

The key to the future, he says, is in the university centers at Albany, Binghamton, Buffalo and Stony Brook. Besides offering the most comprehensive undergraduate program of the state's university units, they engaged strongly in graduate education and research.

The Buffalo center, not to be confused with the four-year college of arts and sciences in Buffalo, plans to convert its present 178-acre campus into a "health-sciences center" after it builds a new campus, mainly for undergraduates, on a 1,000-acre site in suburban Amherst.

Next fall, the Albany center is opening a campus designed by architect Edward Durell Stone. Albany's president, Dr. Evan R. Collins, describes it as the "finest educational plant in the world."

Stony Brook, also at work on a new campus, is drawing top teaching and research talent into its classrooms and laboratories. The center is developing a relationship with nearby Brookhaven National Laboratory.

The Binghamton facility, the smallest of the four centers, dreams of establishing a graduate school of business and research institutes in such areas as medieval studies and comparative theory of politics.

Other university units also contribute to the state university's challenge to the nation's best educational institutions, Gould said.

Programs Revised

Academic programs are being overhauled at the 10 former teachers colleges that are converting to colleges of arts and sciences.

Fredonia, which has a renowned music department is engaged in making the liberal arts program equally as strong.

New Paltz is expanding its well-known international education program and hopes to place more emphasis on non-western cultures and areas.

Buffalo is preparing an urban-education program to prepare teachers to work in poverty areas.

New emphasis on liberal arts also are seen at Brockport, Cortland, Geneseo, Oneonta, Oswego, Plattsburgh, and Potsdam colleges.

Medical education also is taking on a new character.

In the 1970's, the university will have four medical centers that will teach medical nursing and dental, and pharmacy students to coordinate their efforts.

A new center, proposed at Stony Brook, will supplement those now existing at Syracuse, Brooklyn and Buffalo.

With the exception of the College of Ceramics at Alfred University, the specialized colleges in the state university system are undergoing physical and academic expansion.

The six State University Agricultural and Technical colleges — two-year schools — are expanding campuses in what the Cobeskill school calls the "Year of the Big Dig."

Make Arts Universal

The state university also is attempting to inject liberal arts into the Ag + Tech curriculums. For one reason, the colleges are expected to serve students who are not within commuting distance of a community college.

At the community college level, the state university is investigating the possibility of multiple campuses.

"We want them (the community colleges) to operate wherever they can — high schools, churches, wherever there is a need," said Dr. Sebastian V. Martorana, the university's executive dean for two-year colleges.

"It will be a massive push to bring education to people who need it."

Martorana said multiple campuses are necessary because their aren't many more counties with enough tax base to support a community college.

Erie County is looking for land on which to build a second campus and by 1980 will need a third site, he said. "We are urging Nassau County to begin looking for land."

Martorana said that between 1970 and 1980, there will have to be at least 50 community colleges in operation throughout the state to meet enrollment demands.

California Ahead

In scope of curriculum, New York's community colleges are far behind California's, which have been around much longer.

"However, we are getting a few — Hudson Valley, Monroe, Dutchess — that are matching up to the best in California," Martorana noted.

State University, the growing giant, has momentum in the middle of its frontier era in which classrooms, dorms, gymnasiums and dining halls have sprung up in larger numbers and more rapidly than any other university in the country.

In the next decade the State University will be continually re-examining its course in higher education. Policy and method will be scrutinized closely, to see if the university actually is realizing its quest for quality.

Gould said the university is planning several projects, including:

Student trips around the world in wide-ranging international studies program.

A television network to link all the state campuses. It will enable the campuses to share distinguished faculty and programs.

The revision of teaching methods through the use of audio-visual techniques and computers.

The possibilities, Gould said, are unlimited.

Baby Oil Smooths Legs

The new waterproof leg make-up to simulate a tan presents a cleaning problem. Cosmetologists suggest using a baby oil to help remove the make-up. This also leaves legs soft and smooth.

EXPOSITION SEAL—This is the new anniversary seal which commemorates the 125th anniversary of the New York State Constitution. The seal features a map of New York State with a star in the center, surrounded by the words "125 YEARS OF HISTORY-MAKING". The seal will be held in Syracuse Tuesday, Aug. 30 through Labor Day, Sept. 5.

Liberal Party Asks Courts for Reapportionment

NEW YORK (AP) — A suit filed in Federal court in behalf of the Liberal Party seeks reapportionment of New York State's congressional districts.

The complaint, filed Tuesday, charges that the present districting is unconstitutional and violates the U.S. Supreme Court ruling in 1964 that districts within each state must be substantially equal in population.

A spokesman for the party said no effort will be made to block the congressional elections next November.

The suit is the first in New York to seek congressional redistricting on a statewide basis. Legislative seats have been reapportioned in a long series of court cases.

The Liberal party complaint said there are "sizeable and completely unjustifiable differences in population" in the congressional districts established by the legislature in 1961. It also said that many districts have "tortuous boundary lines and lack of compactness and contiguity."

The districting, the complaint contends, "clearly reveals" a pattern of discrimination based on political considerations.

"In area after area throughout the state," the complaint says, "those congressional dis-

Pay Hike Also Goes for 1967 State Delegates

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — In raising the salary of its own members, the Legislature automatically increased the pay of delegates to next year's State Constitutional Convention.

The Constitution requires that the delegates receive the same salary as members of the Legislature.

Therefore, the 186 delegates to be elected next November must be paid $15,000 a year, instead of $10,000.

districts which generally elect members of the Republican party tend to be less populous districts and those which tend to elect members of the Democratic party tend to be the more populous districts.

The actual plaintiffs in the suit are Donald S. Harrington, who sued individually and as acting state chairman of the Liberal party, and David L. Wells, who was described in the complaint as an expert on reapportionment.

Wells is assistant director of the Political Department of the AFL-CIO International Ladies Garment Workers Union in New York, an organization closely connected with the Liberal party.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON, AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The dollar doesn't go as far as it used to. Even so, most other countries have more room for complaint.

Despite all the unpleasantness of the rising cost of living here, other lands have seen a bigger erosion of the market value of their currency in the last 12 or 18 months. And as here, higher food prices often have been the main culprit.

3 Others Beat Mark

If you figure the market value of the local money as an even 100 in 1955 the U.S. dollar was worth 85 cents in 1965. Only three other countries beat that mark. In El Salvador and Guatemala the local currency still bought the same amount of goods and services 10 years later, as measured by cost of living index. In Venezuela the currency's index value is 89. And in Ecuador it's also 85, as in the United States.

Everywhere else the drop has been pretty bad over the long stretch, right down to the example of Brazil where an index value of 100 in 1955 is a lowly 3 in 1966.

The performance of money in 1965, when the cost of living started climbing in the United States to everyone's discomfort, shows Americans ahead of the game by comparison. In a compilation of the depreciation of the value of money in 45 countries in the last 10 years, the First National City Bank, New York, reports that the decline in 1965 was steeper in 31 of the lands than had been the 10 year average.

The one-year drop was 1.7 per cent in the United States. In Canada the drop was 2.3 per cent, France saw a 2.4 per cent slide. But this bettered its previous experience. The annual rate over the 1955-65 period had been 4.6 per cent in France. Fiscal policies to fight rising inflation apparently were helping France at least slacken the upward pace of the cost of living.

Held to 3.8 PC

Depreciation in the value of the local money in West Germany, Switzerland and Belgium was held for the 1965 period to 3.8 per cent in each instance. Norway saw a 3.9 per cent decline in the purchasing power of its money.

The United Kingdom and Sweden saw their money depreciate at the rate of 4.6 per cent in 1965. Italy and Ireland each reported a 4.8 per cent drop. In the Netherlands the decline was an even 5 per cent. Denmark's loss was 6.4 per cent.

But of all the industrialized nations Japan apparently was worst hit by the rising cost of living. There, last year's depreciation in the value of money was 7.1 per cent, compared with a 10-year average of 3.7.

So the United States, despite its prolonged economic boom, and its recent pinch on consumer pocketbooks, still has been able to maintain a much lower rate of depreciation than other major industrial nations.

The rising cost of living has been a growing concern here, but a much more pressing one in other lands.

Hearing Is Set On July 14 for Alarm Charges

Hearing has been set for July 14 for four men charged with sounding a false fire alarm at Hudson. The accused men were released on $100 bail each pending disposition of the charges.

Police booked the accused as Claude Terwilliger, 5 Glenwood Boulevard; Thomas Tiano, 436 Carroll Street; William Gallo, 216 Warren Street, all of Hudson and Ralph Stickle of Tivoli.

According to authorities, three false alarms were sounded between 3:11 and 3:24 a. m. Monday, but the men were charged with turning in only the last one. Police said the men were taken into custody after a high-speed chase through city streets which ended when a car driven by Tiano failed to negotiate a turn and sheered off a utility pole.

Tiano also was charged with speeding. He pleaded guilty to that charge and was fined $20 and his license was suspended for 30 days.

Veterans of Viet Nam War Are Short-Changed

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The U. S. veteran of the Vietnamese war is strictly second class. At least, that is the way he is being treated by the federal government.

He is generally awarded only the benefits of a post-Korea veteran who has served between wars in time of peace.

If you are a veteran of World War I, II or Korea, the Veterans Administration will pay burial expenses up to $250, whether you were disabled in service or not. But if you served in Viet Nam and weren't wounded or otherwise disabled, you are not entitled to this benefit.

A totally or permanently disabled veteran of World War I, II or Korea may be entitled to a pension even though his disability is not connected with his military service. Eligible veterans must have an income of less than $3,000 a year with dependents or $1,800 without dependents.

But a veteran of Viet Nam is not eligible for such a pension. He is entitled to compensation only if he has a military-connected disability.

If a veteran lost one or both hands or feet, or has a serious impairment of vision in both eyes as a result of service in World War II or Korea, he may be entitled to $1,600 toward the purchase of an automobile or other conveyance, including special appliances.

But if a veteran lost both legs or both arms in action in Viet Nam he is not entitled to this $1,600 or any part of it for a special automobile suited to his disability.

Suppose you served more than 90 days in World War I, World War II or Korea. You weren't injured or otherwise disabled. You later die, but not of a service-connected disability.

Your wife may be eligible for a pension. A widow with children however, must have an income of no more than $3,000 a year. A childless widow, or a widow whose children are grown, is not eligible if she has an income of more than $1,800.

But if you are a Viet Nam veteran without World War II or Korea service, your widow and your children are not entitled to such a death pension. (She may, of course, like any "peacetime" veteran's widow, be entitled to compensation if you die of a service-connected disability).

By and large, the veteran who serves in Viet Nam is entitled only to the same privileges as the man who served in peacetime after Korea and before the war in Southeast Asia.

If a veteran is disabled in Viet Nam he can claim the wartime rate of compensation only if he can prove he was on "extra-hazardous duty." Each case is considered on its own "merits." He has the same necessity of proving the duty "extra-hazardous" as the man disabled while participating in maneuvers with live ammunition in the United States. That is, again, he's considered a "peacetime" soldier.

Bills have been proposed this session of Congress to right these inequities. The way it looks now, they don't have much of a chance to pass this session, except for a bill on automobile allowances. This has passed the Senate.

As one Capitol Hill veteran says about the other inequities Viet Nam veterans face, "They just don't have enough sex appeal to pass now."

A flawless emerald of good color is, carat for carat, the most precious gem.

Mrs. Robert Greene was organist and the church was decorated with white gladioli for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a modified gown of silk organza with appliques of Venice lace and a detachable panel train. The silk illusion veil was shirred to a crown of blossoms and buds. The bride carried a prayer book with white cymbidiums and show-ers of stephanotis.

Six Week Program Opens at Marist; 'Upward Bound'

Eight Kingston High School sophomores and juniors are among the 122 students who were scheduled to begin a six-week Upward Bound program on the Marist and Bennett College campuses today.

The students were to arrive on the Marist campus in Poughkeepsie, where they will be housed in dormitories, this afternoon. At 5 p. m. Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-28th District, is slated to address them. Later there will be a dinner for students and staff members and a film on college life will be shown.

Tomorrow there will be orientation talks and registration for courses, and classes will begin on Thursday.

Upward Bound is designated to stimulate students in desiring to further their education, make them aware of what job opportunities are available in the Hudson Valley and of what preparation is required to qualify for a job.

Brother William J. Murphy, of Marist, and Donald J. Calista, of Bennett in Millbrook, the director and co-director, respectively, pointed out today that an attempt will be made to provide a true college approach to the courses.

They said that the Marist-Bennett approach in this respect is different from that tried by other colleges in the United States which are running Upward Bound programs in cooperation with the federal Office of Economic Opportunity.

As co-sponsors Bennett and Marist have received a federal grant of $169,000 for the program which will be continued on a follow-up basis of counseling participants through the next school year.

The student body has been drawn from 12 school districts. Most of the students have received full scholarships valued at $1,000 and covering tuition as well as expenses of room and board and special activities.

In addition of the eight Kingston students, those accepted from other districts are: Beacon, 11; Poughkeepsie, 24; Arlington, 10; Roosevelt (Hyde Park), 17; Roy C. Ketcham (Wappingers), 4; Dover, 7; Pine Plains, 13; Webutuck, 6; Millbrook, 11; Pawling, 5; and Rhinebeck, 6.

Doing The Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST

We're coming to the height of the picnic season and I have used the subjects of some of the questions I've received to make up a quiz. Take a moment to check your Picnic Manners.

1. When planning a picnic or barbecue, you must include your guests' children. True—False—

2. You must have at least one hot dish at a picnic for adults. True—False—

3. When organizing a beach party, it is permissible to ask each couple to contribute one dish. True—False—

4. When small children are included, they are not necessarily expected to eat the same meal as the adults. True—False—

5. At a back yard barbecue, the host always plays the part of the chef. True—False—

6. It is safe to assume that every one loves a picnic. True—False—

Don't peek. Here are the answers.

1. False. If you happen to have children the same age as those of your guests, you may wish to make it a family affair, but you certainly need not ask the youngsters if you want to have an adult party.

2. False. On hot nights a picnic of assorted cold cuts, salads, sandwiches, or many other cold dishes are much preferred to a hot meal.

3. True. But make it clear which dish each member of the group is bringing or you'll have four salads and no bread!

4. True. Young children will enjoy the picnic much more if there is a peanut butter and jelly sandwich available when they're hungry, rather than making them wait for grilled lobster.

5. False. Some men don't like to barbecue or cook in any way, so mother, son or friend-who-loves it takes over the chef's duties.

6. False. I personally know at least three people who hate picnics.

Details concerning the announcing and christening of a baby are described in the booklet, "The New Baby." To get a copy, send ten cents in coin and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Elizabeth L. Post in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman.

MRS. RICHARD A. FRASCH (Lakeside photo)

Nickerson - Frasch Nuptials Are Announced; Ceremony Takes Place in St Mary's Church

On Sunday, July 3, 1966, marriage vows were exchanged by Linda Alice Nickerson of 253 Clifton Avenue, this city, and A/2c Richard A. Frasch of Colonial Gardens. The wedding ceremony took place at 2 p. m. in St. Mary's Church, this city, with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Nickerson and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frasch, all of Kingston.

Arrangements of white gladioli and pompons decorated the church for the occasion.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of lace over bridal satin styled with scalloped neckline and tapered sleeves. The A-line skirt featured a wateau lace and tulle train and the bride's crown of pearls held her fingertip veil of silk illusion. She carried a cascade of white roses and daisies.

Mrs. Frank Jankowski of 23 Spring Lake Drive, Kingston, served as matron of honor for her sister. She wore a full length gown of silk chiffon over taffeta in violet. The bodice featured a scooped neckline and cap sleeves and a sheath skirt was topped with an empire waistline. A matching cap held a short circular veil. Mrs. Jankowski carried yellow roses with yellow daisies.

Frisilla Marz of 106 Florence Street and Mrs. Robert Osterhout of Saugerties served as attendants. Their gowns of peacock blue were identical to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried cascades of pink roses with pink daisies.

John Frasch of Colonial Gardens, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushering were Rogers Nickerson of High Falls, brother of the bride, and Michael Frasch of Colonial Gardens, brother of the bridegroom.

A reception for 90 guests was given at the home of the bride's parents at 253 Clifton Avenue, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and completed training in the field of cosmetology. Her husband, an alumnus of Kingston High, is now A/2c with the U. S. Air Force. He is stationed at Elmendorf Air Force Base in Anchorage, Alaska. He is a data control technician.

On July 11, Airman and Mrs. Frasch will leave for Anchorage, Alaska.

For First Time in New York's History

Supplemental Budget Boosts State Spending Over $4-Billion Figure

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Adoption of the supplemental budget boosted state spending for the current fiscal year beyond the $4-billion mark — for the first time in the state's history.

Gov. Rockefeller had tailored his main budget carefully to hold spending under the $4-billion level. It came in at $3.98 billion.

$4.02 Billion Final Figure

The Legislature trimmed the main budget slightly in adopting it last March, but the supplemental money bill raised the grand total to $4.02 billion, according to Rockefeller's budget division.

A spokesman said the administration would have no difficulty maintaining the budget balance required by law, because slightly higher yields are expected from the state income and corporation taxes than originally estimated.

As approved by the Legislature, the supplemental bill authorized appropriations of more than $280 million. Rockefeller put the figure at $286 million, and fiscal experts of the Democratic-controlled Assembly estimated it at $281 million.

In either event, the budget division said the measure provided for actual spending of only $36 million more in the current fiscal year.

The balance either represents a "first instance advance," the latter are appropriations made in anticipation of reimbursement.

The State Public Works Department received $61.4 million in the "first instance" category for various construction programs, mostly for highway projects. The money was advanced in expectation of receiving federal aid.

Rockefeller originally had proposed supplemental spending of about $360 million, but the Assembly's Democratic leadership forced sharp economy cuts in that plan.

The largest reduction — $40 million — was made in a $50-million item sought by Rockefeller to launch the state's newly authorized war on drug addiction. Most of the money was to be used for building addict-treatment centers, but Democrats argued he could not spend the full amount in the nine remaining months of the current fiscal year.

Rockefeller also sought to restore $30 million cut from an appropriation of $40 million he had sought in his main budget as an advance to the East Hudson Parkway Authority for highway improvements. The Legislature agreed to restore only $10 million, for a net reduction of $20 million.

Other Cuts Restored

Among original budget cuts restored via the supplemental were:

—$3.5 million to build a nuclear-powered plant on Long Island to turn salt water into fresh water.

—$2.9 million to construct a State Police training academy in Albany.

Mink-Like Marvel

Q—What is the profession of a demographer?

A—Demography is statistical study of population is one who does research on the subject.

Q—What breed of dog has been made the "official dog" of the State of Virginia?

A—A bill was recently signed into law making the American foxhound Virginia's official "state dog," joining the dogwood as the state flower and the cardinal as the official bird.

—$1 million of a $10-million appropriation sought by Rockefeller to build a new men's prison near Kingston.

Democrats claimed he could not spend the full $10 million on the prison project this year.

The Legislature refused to restore $1.9 million cut from an $8.3-million request for increasing the staffs of state institutions for the mentally ill or retarded. Democrats maintained it would not be possible to recruit enough people to fill all of the jobs.

They also denied Rockefeller's request for restoration of $2 million cut from his original request for $90.9 million in aid for construction of community colleges. Democrats maintained the need was overestimated.

Slim Jims Are Out Madison Avenue Introduces New Ties, Fat Max

By JOHN VINOCUR

NEW YORK (AP) — Brooks Brothers, the Madison Avenue store that has been turning out stock brokers' uniforms since 1846, has gone and done something very un-tutted down — the Fat Max.

There are murmured apologies, of course — "Not really our kind of merchandise, we generally try to avoid fads." But the display cases don't lie.

Bookies Delight

In them are rows of bookies' delights: four-inch-wide Fat Max ties, broad as bibs, gross enough for a race track, too big enough to hide a dirty shirt front.

Significantly, the salesmen say, the buyers are standard Ivy League types, the advertising men and Wall Street people whose preference for narrow ties had kept wider ones declassé since the end of World War II.

Their interest has manufacturers predicting a drop in the popularity of Slim Jims and pitching their fall sales campaigns to the wide widths. Most standard ties are now between 2 1/2 and 3 inches.

Brooks spokesman Richard Whiting says: "I'm amazed by how astronomical business has been with them. They're not really our kind of merchandise, but I suppose a certain amount of innovation is understood."

Held at 3 Inches

The store has kept the width limit at three inches on its exclusive first floor, while letting it reach four in its university and young executives' departments.

J. Press and Chipp, two of Brooks Brothers' competitors in the city's tailoring enclave off Madison Avenue at 43rd Street, also sell the wide ties, like Brooks in sober regimental stripes and club patterns.

A salesman at Press, which has outfitted Lodges, Cabots and Rockefeller's, says the fad apparently developed early this year at Harvard and Yale. The same report came next door from Chipp, where John F. Kennedy sometimes had his suits made.

Virtually every major manufacturer will carry the wide ties in their fall lines. Prices for the new models are expected to be higher, with makers passing along the cost of extra silk to retail outlets.

New Law Will Provide Pupils Free Textbooks

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Gov. Rockefeller signed today a sharply revised measure that will increase state aid for supplying free textbooks to pupils in private and parochial schools.

Approved by the governor without comment, the legislation will increase reimbursement from $10 to $15 per pupil in grades 7 through 12 for three years, then drop it back to $10 thereafter.

Signed Others

The governor also announced he had signed bills to:

—Extend until March 31, 1967, the existence of the Temporary State Commission on Water Resources Planning.

—Increase from 12 to 14 the number of members of the Saratoga Springs Commission.

The textbook — loan measure signed by Rockefeller differs from a bill that gained final legislative approval in May.

The original measure would have raised reimbursement from $10 to $25 per pupil.

Sponsors of the bill had estimated it would cost the state $15.5 million in the first year and about $10 million a year after that.

But Rockefeller's fiscal experts contended that the first-year cost would have been $43 million.

Set $15 Limit

For that reason, the governor asked the Legislature to change the legislation to set a $15 limit.

This was designed to spread the costs more evenly and will result in a first-year cost of about $25 million, the governor's office says.

The free textbook program was established by a law enacted in 1965 and was to take effect with the school year beginning this fall.

It requires school districts to supply textbooks to pupils and sets the state reimbursement to the districts at $10 a pupil. The bill touched off a church-state debate when it was approved.

Opponents argued that it violated constitutional prohibitions against using public funds in support of church-run institutions.

Bermuda is nearer to Nova Scotia than it is to Miami, but its climate is semitropical.

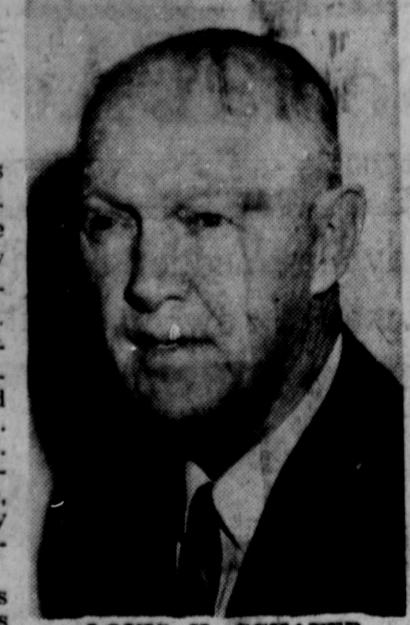

Named to Staff Of Real Estate Agency in City

A man prominent in sports and YMCA activities, Louis H. Schafer has been named to the sales staff of Bertha Gally Realty at 277 Fair Street. He received his state license last week.

Schafer, who retired on January 1, 1966 as executive secretary of the local YMCA, started his new line of endeavor July 1. His first statement to Mrs. Gally was: "As her representative as a salesman in real estate, he can still be of service to many people in the Kingston and Ulster County area."

Lou, as he is known in his club and church organizations and to the people of Kingston, can give valuable assistance, especially to new people that are contemplating making the area of the Hudson valley their home. Schafer, because of his vast association in activities in many parts of the county knows the area real well. He will have listings in residential and commercial fields for homes, farms and acreage. People desiring his services can reach him at the office of Bertha Gally, or his home, 204 West Chestnut Street.

India, in 1964, ranked 7th among nations of the world in fish production.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

SIX BY SIX BY SIX—Visitors to the 1966 Woodstock Library Fair will find an Acapulco flavor at an auction of six Mexican serapes, hand painted by six prominent local artists and modeled by six lovely young ladies. Discussing the 3 p. m. auction on Fair Day, July 28, and their plans for serape designs are artists Fletcher Martin and Reginald Wilson (standing l-r) and Arnold Blanch, serape creator Pauline Luloff and artist Arthur Zaidenberg (seated l-r). Missing from the picture are Anton Reifregier and Edward Chavez, who will also donate time and talents to the new Fair feature. Designer Luloff created the fingertip length garments in heavy, natural muslin with huge shawl collars which may be worn up, down or standaway. The serapes may also be spread out flat for display as unique works of art; will be shown publicly for the first time at the 39th annual Woodstock Library Fair, slated the last Thursday of this month.

Forest Hills Pro Teaches at Club

Emphasis at the Woodstock Estates Swim and Tennis Club this year, as in the past, is quite naturally on swimming and tennis.

Swimming, of course, is totally enjoyable in a large, heated, filtered, pine-rimmed pool. Two trained lifeguards are on duty throughout the day. Popular Stancy Swanson, a student at State of New York at New Paltz, is back again this season and, new this year, is Tony Morris, who will enter his junior year at Cornell University in the fall. Tony is a bio-chemistry major who has excelled in wrestling, baseball, football, tennis and cross country track. He also mastered his Naval ROTC survival swimming test at Cornell University. In addition to serving as lifeguard, Stancy, who is studying speech therapy, is available for swimming instruction; offers private one-half hour lessons or group lessons. Few teachers have had so much success with the very young in swimming instruction and those who know her work are amazed at how rapidly she gets the fearful child to accept the water.

With tennis enjoying an unprecedented upsurge in the United States during this decade, many are taking advantage of the unexcelled courts at the Estates. Composition double-courts, in deluxe size, await members and non-members alike. Non-members and the general public are invited to use the courts at hourly rates; members keep the courts busy at their own pace.

Offer Tennis Lessons

Tennis lessons are also available at the Estates under several truly fine net instructors. For adults who are interested in keen competition with a real pro, the Estates offers the superb playing of Nat Schulman, who is also interested in talented child players. Schulman, who has taught many professionals himself and has played often at Forest Hills, is a member of the United States Professional Tennis Association. He is available on weekends only for private or group sessions.

Hobart College star and champion Wheeler Jackson and Woodstock's own Joe DiBenedetto, on summer vacation from the University of Idaho, offer lessons for children from 8 to 12 in group sessions of one-half hour length and private instruction for adults and older children throughout the week.

Membership is open at the Woodstock Estates Swim and Tennis Club for the season or by the month. Those interested should call Mrs. Chris Morris, manager, at the office of the Estates or drop by for a personal visit.

Board Schedules Dental Meeting

As promised last May, area dentists are continuing their protests against action by the Ontario Board of Education which eliminated the position of dental hygienist-teacher from the 1966-67 school district budget.

Dentists from Woodstock up through Phoenicia formed a united front just prior to the district vote on a more than $3,000,000 budget during the spring; maintained that economy measures involved in eliminating the one teacher involved were "unwarranted and backward." Although the budget was approved with the dental hygienist position eliminated, dissenting dentists pledged to continue the fight to see the job reinstated.

At stake, as they saw it, was the whole problem of dental health itself—not just the one job involved. They pointed out that there would now be no contact between underprivileged children who need dental work, the dentists and the parents of the children.

The dentists involved, who included Dr. Edward Gurland, Dr. Edmund Tomaselli, Dr. Paul Perlman, Dr. Jerome Miller and Dr. Mark Vlock of Woodstock; Dr. Samuel Porter of Phoenicia; Dr. Richard Cressman of Wittenberg; and Dr. Lee Hunt of Olive, were subsequently backed up by the Ulster-Greene County Dental Society in their criticism.

Charged False Economy

Dr. Morton Cohen, president of this Society, argued against such "false economy" in a letter to Dr. George Sullivan, superintendent of schools of the Ontario District, and to all trustees of the Board of Education. He also expressed dissatisfaction in letters to the presidents of all P-T-A chapters in the five Ontario schools.

Now Dr. Cohen has written the Board of Education, requesting a meeting of the Board with the committee of the Dental Society. Mrs. Howard Hanks, school trustee, moved at a recent meeting of the Board that members meet with the Society committee to explore school dental health programs for schools in the Ulster-Greene County area. The motion received a second from trustee Richard Langham and president Philip Gordon set up a meeting for July 7, at 8 p. m., in the Central Building, Boiceville.

It is expected that dentists will push for the reinstatement of the school dental program, which accented inspection and cleaning of teeth, at this week's meeting; ask that monies be allocated from some surplus or general budget fund so the program is continued without interruption.

Opera Premieres For 12th Season

CAROL TOSCANO

The Turnau Opera Players of Woodstock will open their twelfth summer season on July 8 with Gluck's Orpheus. The title role is usually sung by a mezzo-soprano as it was in last year's Turnau production, but this year it will feature baritone Alan Baker as the mythological inventor of music. Carolyn Heafner will sing the role of Eurydice and Carol Toscano will sing Amor, the god of love.

The production will be staged by Norman Walker whose dancers will also perform. Musical direction will be under Warren Wilson and Herbert Kaplan.

The Turnau Opera Players bring this production again to Woodstock after an overwhelming response to its first presentation in the area last year. Critics described it as "a must for local opera lovers," "a profoundly beautiful performance" and "a soul stirring production."

The opera, which played to sold out houses during its entire run last year will be presented on Friday, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, July 8, 9, 11 and 12.

For ticket prices and further information write to: Turnau Opera, Woodstock, or call the boxoffice.

Turnau Boasts Globe Trotters

The creative talent which is such a hallmark of Turnau Opera productions in Woodstock is in demand not only in the United States but all over the world.

The opera company's brilliant musical director, Warren Wilson, is just back from Russia where he was the accompanist for the American singers who competed for the Tchaikovsky prize. Norman Walker who will be directing the first two productions, Gluck's Orpheus and Orff's The Wise Woman, has recently returned from Scandinavia. Since last summer Walker, who is a dancer as well as a choreographer and stage director, has performed at the Balletakademien in Stockholm, taught in Sweden and presented a production of Benjamin Britten's Illuminations on television in Finland. The Britten work was first presented in Woodstock last summer by Turnau Opera.

Barbara Owens, one of the founders of Turnau Opera Players and principal stage director for six years, is here from Germany. Miss Owens won a Fulbright scholarship to study in Germany four years ago and has been living there ever since. Last year she was responsible for a very successful production of Amahl and the Night Visitors which toured Holland starring an all American cast. For more information on the exciting opera company of which these artists are a part, write to Turnau Opera, Woodstock, or telephone the box office.

and final legislative approval of amendment to establish a state-operated lottery.

Proceeds of the lottery would go to education. The proposal will be put before the voters in the November election.

The medical-assistance program provides government financial help for those who are otherwise self-sustaining.

An amendment that gained final legislative approval Tuesday inserted a deductible of up to $75 for an average family of four. The government will pay the remainder beyond the deductible limit.

Also approved during the session (S indicates signed by Gov. Rockefeller) were bills to:

—Raise the minimum wage in New York State from $1.25 to $1.50 an hour. (S)

—Permit any innocent victim of a crime who suffers bodily injury to collect up to $15,000 from the state.

—Give New York City authority to impose an income tax on city residents and an "earnings" tax on commuters. The imposts were sought by Mayor John V. Lindsay who needed new revenue to help balance his $4.6-billion city budget. (S) —Increase from $10 to $15 per pupil the state reimbursement for schools' boards required to purchase and loan textbooks to pupils in grades 7 through 12 in public and private schools, including parochial schools.

—Authorize a $100-million program for construction of facilities to treat drug addicts. Addicts may be committed—criminal or non-criminal. (S) —Require all owners of motor vehicles, regardless of model year, to submit them for annual safety inspections. (S)

—Increase the salary of legislators from $10,000 a year to $15,000 a year.

—Repeal major sections of the 53-year-old railroad "full-crew" law so that carriers now are authorized to eliminate a total of 600 jobs now filled by third brakemen and baggage-men at an estimated cost of $4.5 million a year. The jobs will be eased through attrition. (S)

—Establish a $10-million-a-year revolving state fund designed to generate $150 million a year for construction of private, low-income housing. (S)

—Help elderly persons with small fixed incomes to remain in their homes despite increases in local property taxes. The law authorizes local governments to grant tax exemptions of up to 50 per cent of assessed valuation of real property owned by persons 65 and over whose income is less than $3,000 a year. (S)

—Make broad changes in banking laws and expand the powers of savings banks to build branches and lend money. (S)

—Restore some rights and privileges, previously forfeited automatically, for persons convicted of a first offense. Included will be the right to vote and the right to apply for professional licenses.

—Make it clear that the death penalty still should be a possible punishment when a person kills a policeman in the course of a holdup or another crime.

Some Bills Killed

Bills killed in committee or passed in one house but rejected in the other proposed to:

—Replace the state's Condon-Wadlin Law, which prohibits Democratic-run Assembly and Republican-run Senate passed rival plans but were unable to agree on a compromise measure.

—Tighten the state's code of ethics for legislators. Approved by the Assembly but held in Senate Committee.

—Establish guidelines for re-appointment of city councils and county boards of supervisors. The Senate and Assembly were unable to compromise on their rival plans.

LA Signs Stuart, Adds Outfielder

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The third-place Los Angeles Dodgers announced Tuesday a players' shuffle through which they hope to beef up their batting roster and close the four-game gap separating them from first-place San Francisco.

First baseman Dick Stuart, a .218 hitter with four home runs and 13 runs batted in this season with the Mets, was signed as a free-agent. Stuart, a right-handed hitter with 224 home runs during his major league span, will be utilized mostly for pinch hitting chores.

Also signed was Spokane outfielder Jim Barbieri, currently leading the Pacific Coast League with a .355 batting average.

Infielder Bart Shirley and outfielder Derrell Griffith were sent down to Spokane, an L.A. farm club, to make room. Shirley was hitting .200 and Griffith .067.

Sandy Koufax Wins 15th Game

Dodger Star Pins 1-0 Loss On Cincinnati

By MURRAY CHASS

Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax is halfway to a 30-game season, and Woody Fryman is just about halfway to Sandy Koufax.

Koufax gave up 10 hits Tuesday night but still won his 15th game as Los Angeles edged Cincinnati 1-0.

Koufax' victory gave him No. 15 earlier than ever before. En route to a 26-victory season last year, the 30-year-old left-hander posted his 15th on July 11.

The record of the Dodger ace now reads only three losses. 15 complete games in 20 starts, three shutouts and a 1.51 earned run average.

Fryman, playing in only his second year of professional ball, blanked Philadelphia on three hits, New York on one and Chicago on three. Following the one-hitter against the Mets, in which Fryman faced the minimum 27 batters, New York Manager Wes Westrum said:

"He's as fast as any left-hander I've seen in the league and faster than Sandy Koufax at a given time."

Fryman also has to be as strong with walks as any left-hander in the league. He walked one batter Tuesday, which is the only base on balls he's allowed in three shutouts. Overall, he's averaging one walk every 7.7 innings while Koufax is averaging one every 5.4.

Although Koufax may reach 30 victories before Fryman gets 20, the Pirate youngster has one consolation. He's outlasting Koufax seven to two.

In other National League games, St. Louis stopped San Francisco 3-1, Philadelphia defeated New York 3-1 and Atlanta downed Houston 9-4.

The Dodgers got Koufax a run in the second inning, and he protected it the rest of the way. Jim Lefebvre walked, raced to third on John Roseboro's single and scored as John Kennedy singled. Jim Maloney suffered his fourth defeat against nine victories.

Billy Williams got all three Chicago hits off Fryman, who stopped Ron Santo's hitting streak at 28 games. Donn Clendenon hit a two-run homer for the Pirates while Jose Pagan collected three doubles and drove in two runs.

SF Lead Now 1½

Al Jackson pitched a two-hitter as St. Louis cut San Francisco's lead over the Pirates to 1½ games. Jackson, 8-6, retired the last 16 batters in a row. Tim McCarver homered for the Cardinals, and Lou Brock stole three bases and scored a run.

Philadelphia's Larry Jackson pitched a six-hitter and doubled home two runs against New York. His clutch double in the sixth put the Phillies ahead 2-1, and he scored the third run on a single by John Callison. Ed Kranepool drove in the Mets' run with a sacrifice fly.

Joe Torre batted in two runs with a homer and scored three times as Atlanta won its fourth straight. Torre led the attack against Houston's Mike Cuellar, who suffered his first setback after winning six games. Dave Nicholson homered twice and Jim Wynn once for the Astros.

Little LEAGUERS

Ulster Braves Gain 10-4 Win

Scoring at least once in every inning, the Albany Ave. Garage Braves romped to a 10-4 verdict over the Kiwanis Yankees in a Town of Ulster Little League engagement.

Simard, Muller Win Pistol Shoot

Al Simard and Ernie Muller fired 270's to tie for first place in the fourth annual Ulster County Pistol League Summer Handicap Match at the Phoenix Fish and Game Association Pistol Team's range recently.

Rose Simard led the distaff side with a fine 234 total. Mrs. Simard is living proof that women can compete successfully with men in pistol shooting as her score bettered quite a few of the men's.

Trophies are being awarded in regular categories as well as in the handicap division. All shooters and people wishing to shoot are invited to compete. Ownership of a pistol is not necessary.

The following is the results of the recent match. The scores shown are scratch totals. To get the handicap total add 60 per cent of the difference between the score and 300 to the score.

Adcock, Burdette Roll On

Pace California To 43 Decision Over Detroit Club

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer

Medicare is here but Joe Adcock and Lew Burdette aren't quite ready for it, thank you.

California's two leading senior citizens worked the Detroit Tigers over Tuesday night and handed that young whippersnapper, Denny McLain, his first loss in over a month.

Adcock walloped a three-run homer, his third in three days, and Burdette slammed the door on Detroit rallies in the eighth and ninth innings as the Angels whipped the Tigers 4-3.

Both of the elderly Angels started the game on the bench. Adcock got into the line-up in the fourth after Norm Siebern hurt his right leg running out a single. Burdette was in the bullpen until the eighth when starter Dean Chance and reliever Minnie Rojas ran into trouble.

17th Season

Adcock, who at 39 is playing in his 17th major league season, hammered his 10th homer of the season in the sixth. That gave the Angels a 4-0 lead but the Tigers fought back, knocking out Chance in the eighth.

Rojas came on and gave up a run-scoring single to Norm Cash. Burdette, who starred at Milwaukee for 10 seasons with Adcock, got into a jam in the ninth when Paul Schaaf booted Bill Freehan's two-out bounce and Don Wert singled. But he got Jake Wood on a grounder, ending it.

In the only other American League games played Tuesday, Boston ripped New York 7-1 as Darrel Brandon won his first major league game, and Minnesota edged Cleveland 4-3. Chicago and Washington were rained out.

Burdette has been the workhorse of the California relief staff with a 4-1 record in 32 appearances. He has a 3.27 earned run average.

Summers 4th Loss

McLain, who hadn't lost since June 4, was the victim of Adcock's homer, the 21st he has allowed this season. The 22-year-old Detroit ace, who was three when Burdette and Adcock broke into professional ball, lost his fourth game in 16 decisions.

Brandon, making only his second start for the Red Sox, pitched a six-hitter and contributed a triple and a single to the Boston attack against the Yankees.

Rico Petrocelli drove in three runs on three hits including a homer and George Stigmatt tagged a three-run shot.

Ted Uhlender doubled home the tying run for the Twins in the seventh and Harmon Killebrew's sacrifice fly brought home the winner as Minnesota edged Cleveland.

Tony Oliva whacked his 16th homer for Minnesota while Rocky Colavito and Chuck Hinton connected for the Indians.

Name U. S. Women To Curtis Cup Team

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight women amateur golfers, all veterans of Curtis Cup play, were named Tuesday to the team that will play Great Britain in the 14th Cup match at Hot Springs, Va., July 29 and 30.

Members of the team, as announced by the United States Golf Association, are: Jean Ashley, Chanute, Kan.; Barbara Fay White Bodie, Shreveport, La.; Carol Sorenson, Flenniken, Denver; Barbara McIntire, Colorado Springs, Colo.; Phyllis Preuss, Pompano Beach, Fla.; Nancy Roth Syms, Hollywood, Fla.; Anne Quast, Welts, Mt. Vernon, Wash.; and Helen Sigel Wilson, Gladwyne, Pa.

Mele Names Hurlers For AL All-Star Team

young staff of eight pitchers, including four chosen for the first time, was named to the American League All-Star team today to face the National League in the annual major league baseball classic July 12 at St. Louis.

Minnesota Manager Sam Mele who earned the honor of leading the American All-Stars by picking the Twins to the pennant last season, picked a pitching squad of four right-handers and four left-handers with an average age of 25.

Mele, whose choices were announced by league headquarters, named two Cleveland pitchers, and one each from Detroit, Baltimore, Minnesota, Kansas City, Washington and New York. Pitchers for the California Angels, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox were bypassed.

The right-handers selected were Gary Bell of Cleveland, Denny McLain of Detroit, Jim Hunter of Kansas City and Mel Stottlemyre of New York. The southpaws were Sam McDowell of the Indians, Steve Barber of Baltimore, Jim Kaat of the Twins and Pete Richert of Washington.

Named 1st Time

McLain, Kaat, Barber and Hunter were named to the team for the first time. McDowell was the losing pitcher in a 6-5 defeat by the National League last year, when he was nicked for the tie-breaking run in the seventh inning.

Bell was tagged for two runs in three innings in the All-Star Game in 1960, while Stottlemyre did not see action as a member of the American squad last year.

Bell is the oldest of the eight at 29. Hunter, 20, is the youngest. McLain is 22, McDowell 23, Stottlemyre 25, Richert 26, Barber 27 and Kaat 28.

The selection of McDowell and Stottlemyre surprised some observers. McDowell has a 6-2 record, but the young fireballer has been sidelined much of the season by arm trouble. Stottlemyre has a 7-9 record with the second division Yankees.

McLain boasts the most victories with a 12-3 record. Barber has a 9-2 mark with the league-leading Orioles. Kaat, who won 18 games last year, is 10-6, while Bell, reconverted to a starter, is 8-4.

Hunter, who hasn't had much time to spend his $75,000 bonus, is 8-6 as a major league sophomore, while Richert, a National League castoff, owns an 8-3 record.

The starting fielders were chosen in balloting by managers, players and coaches. The remainder of the 25-player squad, coaches, batting practice pitchers etc. will be announced Friday.

Joe Gruberg swatted a pair of doubles and Bruce Tubby collected two singles for the losers. Tubby was charged with the loss.

Line score:

Seneca	103 210-7 2
Navajo	303 000-6 5

Syracuse Snaps Losing Streak

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The lowly Syracuse Chiefs, who seem to have a permanent hold on the International League's cellar, have snapped a five-game losing streak.

The Chiefs squeaked by the sixth-place Buffalo Bisons Tuesday night on only five hits — three in the first inning and two in the seventh. But they turned the hits into two runs in each inning.

The Richmond Braves lost to the Jacksonville Suns 4-2 and the Toronto Maple Leafs edged Rochester 3-1 in other action Tuesday night. Columbus and Toledo were not scheduled.

Billy Graham, who went out for a pinch hitter in the seventh, was credited with the Chiefs' win. Larry Clayton walked for Graham and scored the winning run on a sacrifice fly by Joe Christopher.

Jacksonville defeated Richmond behind the pitching of Dick Selma, who made his first start since being sent down by the New York Mets.

The three Braves errors in the fifth gave the Suns two runs and a 3-2 lead which held up as Selma kept the Braves in check the rest of the way.

Ken Boswell homered for the Suns in the opening inning. Tony Horton's two-run round-tripper in the seventh inning carried the Maple Leafs to their victory over Rochester. The Red Wings were leading 2-0 on the strength of Mike Fiore's two-run homer in the first when Rochester starting pitcher Tom Phoebus seemed to run out of gas in the seventh.

Phoebus, who pitched three-hit ball for six innings, gave up two singles, a triple and the homer in the seventh for his eighth loss in 14 decisions. Bill Rohr was the winning pitcher.

AFL Owners Meeting, Discussing Merger
DETROIT (AP) — American Football League owners were expected to discuss the recent merger with the National Football League at some length today after hearing a report on the basic facts of the move Tuesday.

The owners are holding their summer meeting here at the personal invitation of League President Ralph Wilson — a Detroit owner who owns the Buffalo Bills.

Presents Report
Lamar Hunt, owner of the Kansas City Chiefs and chairman of the three-man AFL committee which helped formulate the merger with the NFL, presented the report to the owners.

"There was a lot of listening and very little discussion today," said Commissioner Al Davis after the three-hour initial meeting.

"This is the first meeting of all of the owners since the merger was announced and they and a lot of people are finding out that a lot of things can't be finalized in one or two meetings," Davis added.

Expansion plans, discussion of the AFL-All-Star Game set-up and a report on questions asked by some of the players through their representative, Jack Kemp, are some of the other things on today's agenda.

Davis refused to discuss his future with the league. He as bro Flight and Noble Victory went off stride at the first turn. Dancer lodged an interference claim which was upheld. O'Brien drew a five-day suspension.

The angry Dancer claimed further that Noble Victory had been cut on his right hoof and might be out of action. Fortunately Noble Victory recovered in a few days and won the American Trotting Championship last Saturday to qualify for the premier International event.

O'Brien was miffed over the foul claim, asserting Dancer was "childish" in lodging it. Neither was present at the draw for post positions Tuesday for the 1 1/4 mile classic.

Armstrong Flight drew the No. 2 position to No. 8 for Noble Victory and was immediately installed the 5-2 morning line favorite with Noble Victory the second choice at 3-1.

Roquepine of France, No. 7, was made the third choice at 4-1 with the defending champion, Pluvier 11 of Sweden, who drew No. 1, fourth choice at 5-1.

Pick Wick F. of West Germany, who drew No. 5, is held at 6-1 with Quico of France 8-1 out of No. 6. Mereno of Norway and Carmelo of Italy both were rated at 20-1. Mereno drew No. 3 and Carmelo No. 4.

Mike Spada Hurls 3-Hit Shutout

Mike Spada, a one-time member of the New York Yankee farm system, was in brilliant form last night as he hurled the Kingston-All-Stars to a 10-0 win over Elmer's Inn in a City Baseball league game at Dietz Stadium.

The fireballing righty allowed only three hits while walking three and fanning eight. His mates hammered loser Joe Schabot and relief hurler Gene Stoutenburg for nine safeties.

Lou Perry, the All-DUSO shortstop, slugged a home run and scored twice for the winners. Jack Schatzel another All-DUSO performer, hit a triple and double. Stoutenburg doubled in his behalf.

Schatel couldn't find the plate in the first inning. He walked six straight batters and the winners scored three runs.

Schatel's two safeties accounted for runs in the second and fourth frames. In the fifth, a walk and singles by Zip Seacroft, Spada and Jeff Perry scored two runs more.

Lou Perry climaxed the triumph with his two-run shot in the seventh.

Spada pitched hitless ball over the last four innings.

Select Starters For West Gridders
ATLANTA (AP) — Sixteen West All-Stars have earned starting assignments as the rival All-America squads continued drills for Saturday's Coach's All-America football game.

Coach-of-the-Year Tommy Prothro said he had now seen enough to pick all but one of his defensive openers. Over on offense, five berths still are unsettled, including the quarterback job sought by $100,000 Atlanta Falcon bonus baby Randy Johnson and three-time All-Big Eight performer Gary Lane of Missouri.

Tommy Nobis, the only other future Falcon in the West cast, has wrapped up one linebacking job and teaming with him will be Carl McDadds from Oklahoma.

The rest of the way on defense, said Prothro, the West will field a starting group of ends Aaron Brown of Minnesota and Jeff Smith of Southern Cal; tackles Gale Gillingham of Minnesota and Charlie Harper of Oklahoma State and middle guard Walt Barnes of Nebraska.

For the rival East, plans were not yet as firm. Duffy Daugherty's crew suffered the loss of Alabama end Tommy Tolleson, who pulled a hamstring muscle and will be sidelined.

Replacing the Falcon draftee was Pat Hodgson, the native Atlantan and three-year Georgia Star who is the property of the Washington Redskins.

In other action, Cord's Hose opposes the Mets at Block and Gordon's Bar plays Port Ewen merchants at Loughran Park. All games begin at 6:15 p. m.

Clarke Lowers World Standard For Three Miles

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Ron Clarke, the first runner to crack the 15-minute barrier for the three-mile and the 28-minute barrier for 10,000 meters, again is exciting the track and field world.

The slim 29-year-old Australian regained the world mark in the 5,000 meters Tuesday with a blazing 13:16.6 and en route lowered the three-mile world record to 12:50.4.

An enthusiastic crowd of 10,000 stood on its seats and cheered Clarke as he far outdistanced the field for his two world records at an international track and field meet.

The 12:50.4 in the three-mile broke the world standard of 12:52.4 that Clarke set in London last July 10. The 13:16.6 for the 5,000 meters shattered the mark of 13:24.2 held by Kenya star's Kipchoge Keino. The Kenya star had snatched the record from Clarke last Nov. 30 at Auckland, N.Z., when he bettered the 13:25.8 set by the Aussie in Los Angeles June 2, 1965.

Bodo Tummelmer of West Germany set a good pace before dropping out after several laps. Clarke took over and turned the race into a one-man affair with the field more than 100 yards back. His finishing kick was such that he lapped two competitors.

Lech Boguszewicz of Poland finished second in 13:51.8 followed by Tony Cook of Australia in 13:52.6. Bill Baillie of New Zealand in 13:56.2, Kelsuke Sawaki of Japan in 13:58.2, Bengt Nade of Sweden in 14:09.8 and Nedo Farcic of Sweden in 14:12.2.

British Open Gets Underway

MURFIELD, Scotland (AP) — Australia's Peter Thomson set out today to go one better than the legendary Harry Vardon and capture the British Open Golf title for the sixth time.

But men like Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Gary Player and Tony Lema were standing in Thomson's way as the 72-hole championship got under way.

In the heyday of the British game, Harry Vardon of England won the open in 1898, 1899, 1903, 1911 and 1914 and became a golfing immortal.

Thomson won the title in 1954, 1955, 1956, 1958 and 1965. Latest betting lists showed money pouring in for Thomson, whose odds have dipped to 10 to 1. Player, the South African star, is 6 to 1 although he insists, "My game is pretty poor."

Nicklaus, of Columbus, Ohio, remained the 7-2 favorite, with Palmer at 5 to 1 and Lema at 7 to 1.

The field of 130 top pros and a few amateurs are competing on a 6,887-yard, par 71 course.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) was created by President Dwight Eisenhower.

SPORTSMAN'S DIGEST By Hal Sharp
BALANCE BOBBER TO SINKER, ETC.
QUILL FLOAT
CORK BOBBER
LIGHT SINKER
HEAVY SINKER

BALANCE SINKER'S WEIGHT TO THE BOBBER'S RESISTANCE, SO THE SLIGHTEST TUG BY A FISH PULLS BOBBER UNDER WATER. SOME BAITS MAY BALANCE THE FLOAT WITHOUT USING SINKERS. USE SMALLEST FLOAT POSSIBLE, BUT IF A HEAVY SINKER IS REQUIRED TO SINK A BAIT, CHOOSE A BULKIER FLOAT TO SUIT. A QUILL-TYPE FLOAT MUST HANG UPRIGHT IN WATER. USE THIS TYPE FLOAT FOR SHYEST FISH.

TO GIVE EXHIBITION — Pete Margo of Union City, New Jersey, the 18-year-old professional pool player, will give an exhibition at Buster Ferraro's Golden Cue on Wednesday, July 13, 8 p. m. billed as the world's youngest professional, Margo has met and defeated many of the leading players in the country and has had numerous runs over 100. He will meet a top flight local star and give a series of trick shots at the conclusion of the match.

parents and 6-year-old sister Diana. She spent the first night with her grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Chelcie Reynolds, managers of a Kansas City motel.

At 2:20 a.m., the night bell rang. Mrs. Reynolds got up from bed at the rear of the office, passed Denise sleeping on a sofa, and admitted a man.

As she handed him a registration card, the man laid an automatic pistol on the counter and demanded money. Mrs. Reynolds gave him $246.

"Anyone else here," the robber asked Mrs. Reynolds said her husband was in the back room. The robber bound them both with adhesive tape, but the Reynolds freed themselves and called police.

It was then they noticed that Denise had disappeared. Her clothing and shoes still were piled neatly beside the sofa.

Roadblocks were set up immediately. After dawn, helicopters went up, police combed the area, Boy Scouts and Civil Air Patrol cadets made a sector search over the brushy, wooded terrain near the motel.

"At the very beginning there was no doubt in our mind she would be released within an hour," says Mrs. Clinton. "It wasn't reality for a long time."

Difficult From Others — but my personal opinion is if someone had Denise and had a good attitude toward her, she would accept this and be reasonable and content. Suppose there is a woman involved and she felt the woman liked her. She would fall into a pattern of being content. My husband thinks they would not be able to control her.

Karl Dissy, the FBI agent in charge of the Kansas City office, says one man still is working full time on the case.

"Usually in kidnapping cases you have the situation where you have some kind of demand — the principal object of a kidnapping. This case is different. It appears the initial motive was robbery and that the kidnapping was an afterthought."

When she was taken, Denise was 4-foot-10 and weighed 85 pounds. Her reddish blonde hair was cut short and she wore bangs. She was blue-eyed like her parents.

"The hardest thing is not knowing," says Mrs. Clinton. "I never could believe that she is not still alive and that there is no chance."

ing sections of the Towns of Esopus and Ulster have placed a great burden on the present highway system, and he pledged that he would do everything possible to cooperate fully with local and state officials in working for the development of plans for the proposed projects.

Wilson added, however, that the major portion of the funds for the planning and construction of the projects, as well as for the acquisition of needed land, would have to be included in future state budgets, but that he would make every effort to get these needed funds for Ulster County.

Reagan Removes Self From 1968 President Bid

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ronald Reagan removed himself from consideration for the 1968 Republican nomination for president.

Reagan, the GOP candidate for governor of California, told a news conference that if he is elected he will serve all four years of his term.

Asked if he would make a flat statement about his intentions, he replied: "I have. What more flat statement could I make?"

U.S. Air Force officers were jubilant at the success of their F105 Thunderchiefs and F4C Phantoms in evading the missiles over North Vietnam.

The most missiles the north Vietnamese had fired on any previous day was about a dozen. One flight of four F105 Thunderchiefs had an especially successful day, according to an official account.

The Thunderchiefs first evaded three SAMs 60 miles northwest of Hanoi and attacked three control radar vans — the nerve center of the SAM sites. The pilots said they left all three radar vans burning.

The flight went on to hit another SAM site 50 miles northwest of Hanoi and reported its radar went off the air after the attack.

The same flight spotted two missiles in the air 50 miles northwest of Hanoi and saw smoke from the missile launchers at a site covered with camouflage netting. The Thunderchiefs attacked with rockets and 20mm cannon, and pilots reported an orange fireball which set the netting on fire.

Proceeding 50 miles northwest of Hanoi, the same flight spotted two more SAMs in the air, attacked the SAM site and said they damaged it.

Another flight of four Air Force F4C Phantoms reported spotting eight to 10 missiles fired at them while they were flying protective cover against MIG jets. The Phantoms evaded all the missiles and got away without damage.

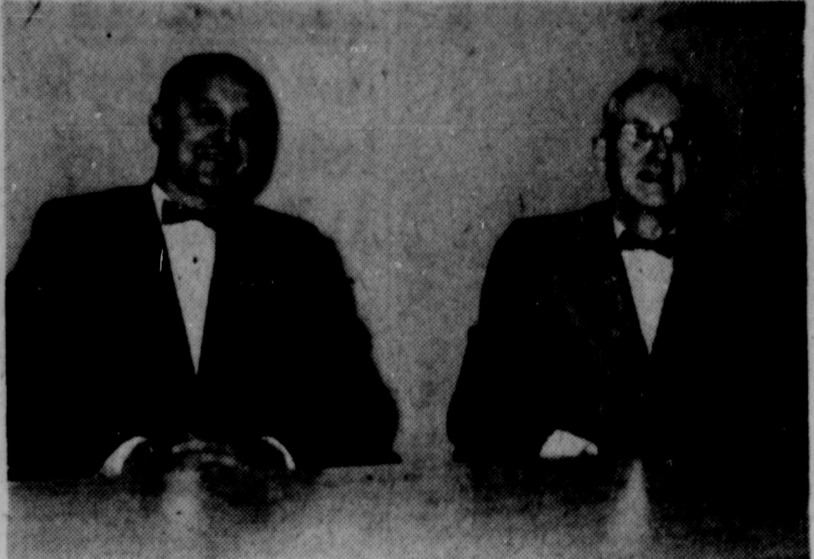

Other flights of Thunderchiefs and Phantoms reported missiles while flying missions 75 to 115 miles northwest of Hanoi. One Thunderchief flight spotted five SAMs. The pilots said they detonated in the air 700 to 6,000 feet away.

Two Die in Plane Crash Near Poconos

STROUDSBURG, Pa. (AP)—A light airplane crashed while circling to land at the Pocono Mountains Airport Tuesday killing the two men aboard.

The victims were William O. Compton, 50, of Chenango Bridge, N.Y., the pilot, and Robert W. Barnes, 20, of Endicott, N.Y., a friend.

Thomas Tanis, of Buck Hill Falls, a friend of Compton's, was at the airport waiting for them when the plane crashed.

"Everything seemed okay," said Tanis later. "He even waved to me. But all of a sudden the plane nose dived and tore into the ground."

Tanis said Compton was flying in to spend a few days at his guest and Barnes came along for the ride.

High-quality issues among autos, steels, chemicals, oils and nonferrous metals made their best showing in weeks.

At the same time, quite a few of the glamor stocks among the airlines, color televisions, other electronics and aerospace issues did well, recovering from recent nervousness.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.6 at 38.0 with industrials up 2.9, rails up .3 and utilities up .7.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 4.90 at 880.17.

All the Big Three motors advanced a point or better.

The top steelmakers were all higher with Jones & Laughlin, up more than 2, making the biggest gain.

Polaroid rose 3, Zenith and Eastern Air Lines 2 or better.

Lawmakers . . .

up to $4,500 in their own "lulus" and those of major committee chairmen.

The pay bill will raise the annual salary of all lawmakers from $10,000 to $15,000, effective with the 1967 session. By law, pay increases may not be put into effect until a new Legislature takes office.

There was some opposition in each house but it was mostly silent. The Senate passed the measure, 51-10, and the Assembly, 96-41.

Rockefeller's approval of the pay bill and the budget measure was a foregone conclusion.

Before the Assembly vote, Westchester Republican Warren Sinzheimer offered an amendment that would have limited the pay increase to $1,000. But it was shouted down with a roaring "no."

In justifying the pay raise, the leaders pointed to the length of the 1965 session—which ran into late June. In previous years the annual session usually ended in late March or early April.

Longest Since 1911

The 1966 version was the longest session since 1911, when the lawmakers labored until Oct. 6. It also went down on the books as the third longest in legislative history, dating back to 1777.

The divided political complexion of the 1966 Legislature—with the Assembly in Democratic hands and the Senate ruled by Republicans—was blamed generally for the session's longevity.

Democratic-Republican stalemates constantly hamstringing the session, and the leadership spent long hours in conference to hammer out compromises.

They did not always succeed. This was evident in the fate of two major chores that the Legislature left unfinished.

Despite intensive efforts during the adjournment rush, the two sides were unable to agree on a plan for replacing the harsh Condon-Wadlin Law with a more workable statute designed to deter strikes by public employees.

Leaders also confessed inability to work out an agreement on political division of judgeships. As a result the Legislature took no action on the State Judicial Conferences' request to create 35 more State Supreme Court judgeships—most of them in New York City—to help relieve court congestion.

Leaders Praise Session

In addition, the Senate and Assembly reached no compromise on rival bills that would have laid down guidelines for reapportionment of county boards of supervisors and city councils.

As expected, Gov. Rockefeller and the Legislature's top-ranking leaders—Travie and Republican Sen. Earl W. Brydges—issued post-adjournment statements praising the record of the 1966 session.

Rockefeller said the session was "a most difficult and trying one" but also "successful and productive...in terms of solid accomplishment for the people." He then cited a long list of his program bills that had been passed.

Travie, calling it "a most fruitful session," singled out the state's controversial new medical-aid program for special mention as "the greatest piece of social legislation since social security."

The program has been criticized widely. Upstate as too broad in scope and potentially too costly to the taxpayer.

Among its final acts, the Senate approved an Assembly bill creating a deductible clause into the benefits section. This means the average eligible family will have to pay up to $75 of its own non-hospital medical costs, while the state pays the rest.

One of Best: Brydges

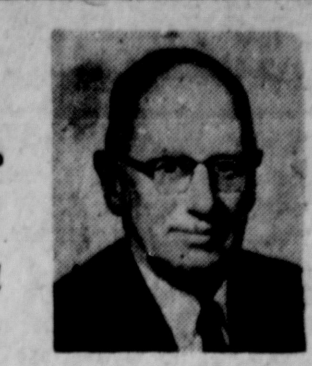

Brydges said the session "began in a spirit of hopeful cooperation, bogged down in the middle with wholly unnecessary frustration and Democratic obstructionism, and ended with a total record marking it as one of the most productive sessions in years."

Among other things, he cited enactment of divorce-reform legislation, the minimum-wage boost to $1.50, increased school-aid, repeal of major sections of the railroad full-crew law and provisions for expansion of the City University of New York.
